Beachites Asked
Opinions on DST

City Manager Philip Ansell, in an effort to determine the wishes of Virginia Beach residents on the question of daylight saving time, is circulating a copy of a letter received by him this week from Norfolk's Acting City Manager, Henry George, III. The Norfolk official's letter requested information as to what action Virginia Beach would take on the question of "fast time" should the Virginia General Assembly grant permission to the City of Norfolk and this area to adopt daylight saving time.

George asked specifically what action, if any, Virginia Beach would take if Norfolk changed to the summer time schedule.

Ansell is circulating copies of the letter to civic clubs and other groups in Virginia Beach requesting replies so that if the question should arise the City Council will have a basis for action.

Red Cross Record
Most Heartening
Gov. Battle Says

"The record of accomplishments by the one hundred fourteen Virginia Red Cross chapters is revealing and heartening," Governor John Battle said this week in a letter to John Fitzgerald, local campaign manager for the 1952 membership drive.

"The services are so varied and cover such a broad field of activity that it is difficult for the average citizen to realize the total value of the organization," the Governor continued, in his letter commending Mr. Fitzgerald for accepting the post.

Mr. Fitzgerald concurred in the Governor's statement, and added that many things taken for granted these days are directly traceable to the American Red Cross. The services to men in the armed forces, the gigantic blood and blood plasma program, civilian hospitalization in this country, first aid courses, water safety, and accident prevention classes have come to be taken for granted, Fitzgerald said, but the busy hand of the Red Cross is behind them.

"The success of all Red Cross services is dependent upon the active support of its volunteers," Governor Battle declared. "I am confident that this great corps of public spirited men and women will do everything possible to assure the success of the Red Cross campaign of 1952. To each volunteer, I extend my best wishes for speedy attainment of this year's goal."

Salaries for New Officers
Are Set by City Council

The City of Virginia Beach has its first Commissioner of the Revenue. He is Ephraim W. Smith, who was appointed to the position by Princess Anne Circuit Court Judge Floyd E. Kellam on March 1.

Smith's appointment came some two weeks after the City Council had recommended him for the position created when Virginia Beach became a city of the second class, and the post was created by the city charter.

In a special meeting Monday afternoon the City Council accepted the salary for the Revenue Commissioner as set by the State Compensation Board at $5,540 per year. The State Compensation Board's wage scale for Virginia Beach also provides for a deputy commissioner of revenue at $3,000 per year and two clerks at $2,100 per year each.

In addition the Council approved a new wage scale for the office of City Treasurer Richard A. Jones, and voted to augment the treasurer's salary for his services as clerk of the Council and Police Court. A salary of $5,040 per year for the treasurer was approved along with an additional $1,000 per year for performance of the other duties. This represents a small increase over the present salary for this office.

Council also approved the office of Deputy Treasurer at $3,000 annually, three clerks at $2,100 each, and $1,500 for extra help when needed. The city will pay two-thirds of all salaries approved and the state makes up the remaining third.

The Commissioner of Revenue has been a resident of Virginia Beach for the past eight years and comes to the city's employ following 6 1/2 years as assistant cashier of the Bank of Virginia Beach.

Smith is a native of Chapel Hill, N. C., and attended the University of North Carolina. He served three years in the Air Force during World War II as a pilot instructor with the Air Force Command.

At the present time the office for the Commissioner of Revenue in the city hall is not ready for occupancy. An unused city garage is being renovated to house the city council at its meetings and the present council chamber will be remodeled to provide quarters for the revenue office.

Smith is married to the former Mary Forester, daughter of Mrs. G. I. Forester and the late Rev. Forester. They have two children: The commissioner of revenue's appointment is effective until the general elections in November, 1954.

Corn, Soybean
Support Prices
Are Announced

Price support on Virginia's 1952 corn crop is expected to be $1.75 a bushel or higher, the Production and Marketing Administration has announced. They also state that soybean support will likely be about $2.50 per bushel this year.

Both predictions are based on advance national average support rates just released by the Department of Agriculture, $1.60 for corn and $2.56 for soybeans, according to C. D. Jordan, State PMA chairman.

Usually the support rate on corn in Virginia is somewhat higher than the national level to reflect differentials to Mid-west elevators, he said and for this reason the rate on the 1951 corn crop in Virginia was $1.73 compared to a national average of $1.57. In the case of soybeans, the state rate is usually lower than the national average, since Virginia is close to the terminal markets for soybeans. This state soybean rate last year was $2.39 against a national average of $2.45. These factors were taken into consideration in estimating the 1952 rates in Virginia, Jordan stated.

As a basic commodity the law requires that corn be supported at 90 per cent of parity on October 1, the beginning of the corn marketing year. Therefore the announced national advance rate is subject to upward revision at that time if 90 (Continued on Page Four)

Cecil P. Land Is Named Sanitation
Head By County

Cecil P. Land, of Princess Anne, was named Superintendent of Sanitation by the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors at a special meeting held Monday afternoon.

The county board fixed Land's salary at $250 per month, plus $50 per month for expenses. His appointment becomes effective April 1, at which time he will supervise the collection of garbage in the Kempsville and Lynnhaven districts. At the present time R. W. Mears is under contract with the Board of Supervisors to collect garbage.

The board outlined Land's duties in that he must maintain accurate records of personnel and be responsible for proper maintenance of the three trucks recently purchased by the board. The governing body adopted a total budget of $17,550 for Land's department, but the hope was expressed that the department could be operated for less than that amount.

In other matters the board deferred action on a request from Norfolk's Acting City Manager Henry H. George, III, in regard to daylight saving time. The board felt that they would take up the matter if and when the City of Norfolk adopts "fast time."

A delegation of property owners of North Linkhorn, Bay Colony and Cavalier Park asked the board for an amendment to the zoning ordinance to require construction of residences in those areas to measure not less than 1,500 square feet, if one story, and not less than 800 square feet, if two story. The measures would not include garages or porches. The matter was referred to the zoning board.

The action was taken relative to the "county executive secretary"—an office which has been under discussion much of late.

Smith is a native of Chapel Hill, N. C., and attended the University of North Carolina. He served three years in the Air Force during World War II as a pilot instructor with the Air Force Command.

"Most Delicious Ever" At Colony Restaurant Says Patron of Food

It is indeed fortunate that the management of the Colony Restaurant on Atlantic Avenue does not let its head be swelled by flattery, for the most complimentary letters concerning food and service are received almost daily.

Mr. Jay Arnold, of 201 Ana Loink Street, East Stroudsburg, Pa., for example, wrote recently: "The most delicious ham served here I have ever eaten anywhere."

The same phrase is found for other food items. "A very delicious serving of roast beef. Courteous service and excellent environment," are excerpts from a letter from Charles Davant, Augusta, Georgia.

MORE ABOUT FLOWERS FROM SEED

Seedlings may be picked off and potted when large enough to handle, or they may be thinned and left to grow to the proper size for planting in a permanent bed.

To help prevent "damping-off," a fungus disease that seems to attack almost all flowering plants, the top layer of soil can be sterilized with boiling water or by baking it in the oven, or by the application of a chemical solution before planting. If you have used a top layer of sphagnum and vermiculite, or plain vermiculite, this is not necessary. The vermiculite is germ free. The first time used, and the sphagnum contains some element that discourages the fungus growth. This fungus can attack the seed or the seedlings. Seed may be treated by shaking in a jar with red copper oxide before planting, which usually prevents damping-off while seed germinates. If it should occur after seedlings are up, it can be checked by carefully cultivating the surface of the soil.

The fungus usually grows in the top 1 1/2 inch of soil and has the appearance of a network of fine silky threads. It is not always easy to see, but these threads will catch and adhere to the soil you use for cultivating. (We like to use a knitting needle.) The fungus makes its presence known by the behavior of the seedlings. They drop and die in increasingly large patches. If the seedlings are large enough, transplanting will save those not already affected. The fungus growth spreads rapidly, so get to work promptly. If your seedlings start withering or drooping off where they emerge from the soil.

The time required for germination varies considerably among the different kinds of seeds. Those you sow in the fall that do not come up before winter arrives, should be left untouched until spring. Sometimes the length of time it takes them to germinate can be shortened by pre-chilling, or freezing the seed.

This can be done by placing seed between damp blotters, or in moist sand or peat moss, or by opening the packet and adding a drop or two of water, then putting them in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. Leave them there for a period of from three days to three weeks. Let them thaw and plant immediately. Some of the seed benefited by this treatment are: alyssum, candytuft, carnation, columbine, dianthus, gypsophila, larkspur, delphinium, lupin, phlox, stock, sweet pea, snapdragon and primula.

Temperatures at which seed germinate vary greatly. Many like the cool temperatures of early spring and late fall, and quite a few will not germinate except in fluctuating temperatures such as we find in spring when days are very warm and nights cool. You can expect healthier, sturdier seedlings if the seed germinates at the coolest rather than the hottest temperature in the range which that particular variety will tolerate.

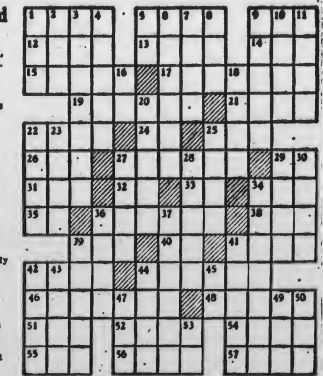

One more thing that might be mentioned is bottom heat for your coldframe. Thermostatically-controlled cables can be bought in two sizes. One of these cables would extend the list of seed that can be planted in the fall. The controls can be set at a few degrees above the freezing point, thus saving any non-hardy varieties in the event of a heavy freeze. This would be a luxury rather than a necessity.

When seedlings are large enough to be planted in a permanent bed, move them a few at a time so they will be out of the ground as short a time as possible. The soil should be just damp enough to hang to the roots. If possible, transplant on a windless, overcast day. If sun and wind persist when you are ready to transplant, cover the plants with strawberry boxes after you have put them in a permanent position. When all is ready, dig a hole deeper than the soil you take up with the plant. Put a little peatmoss or some of the same soil you have just removed after working it free of lumps. Let the plant in, crumble some more soil around it, leaving a slight depression so the water will not run off.

Water gently to settle the soil around the roots. The depression can be filled later. It is not always necessary to water the plants at the time they are transplanted if the weather is quite cool and you have taken enough soil with the roots.

As a matter of fact, we are in favor of cool weather gardening. It is easier on the plants, and it is easier on you.

A JOB WELL DONE

Within the pages of this newspaper you will read of the whopping success of the 1952 March of Dimes campaign and the grand total of $21,360.33 raised to combat infantile paralysis. To raise this amount of money is no easy task and to raise twice the amount of the goal set (the original goal was $10,000) is a clear indication of the fine teamwork and cooperation among the workers who are responsible for this remarkable accomplishment.

It is impossible to single out any one person or group of persons for no individual or group of individuals could be justly singled out in an undertaking which has had such phenomenal success, and which depended so much on the unselfish cooperation of all.

The community and area is grateful to the officers of the Princess Anne Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, under whose guidance the drive was conducted, but most of all to the countless number of our citizens who worked in the campaign. It was truly a team triumph and one that clearly and distinctly points up the success that can be attained with teamwork and pulling together, not apart.

DO YOU LIKE IT?

That perennial question which has plagued the citizens of Norfolk for so many years—Daylight Saving Time—will undergo the scrutiny of the various civic organizations in Virginia Beach. City Manager George of Norfolk has contacted City Manager Ansell of Virginia Beach, and he, in turn, has asked various clubs here to "sound out" their members on whether or not they favor the time change.

Things both good and bad can be said about DST. We know the confusion it works to have part of our populace on one time, by virtue of working in a plant which observes the "fast" time, while others leave their clocks "as is." We know the confusion of train and bus and airplane schedules—for while we all "understand it," when the time comes to translate the change into a timetable, we are pretty apt to go all haywire and forget whether to add or subtract the hour.

Moving the clocks up or back is no different from crossing the time-line when traveling east or west out of our Eastern Standard time zone, but seems much more confusing, perhaps because of the various schedules, etc.

From where we sit, it would seem the simplest solution would be not the changing of the clocks, which seems to engender both logical and illogical opposition, but to set up the hour for reporting for work or opening places of business, and quitting the same hour earlier come the end of the day. What do you think?

ABOUT THOSE TAXES

A few weeks ago we published in our Mail Box column a letter from a serviceman's wife, asking about payment of income taxes. Her husband, as is many another husband, is overseas with the armed forces. Here is the best information we can obtain on the subject:

Taxes must be paid on the allotment, at least state taxes. Federal income taxes for servicemen are deferred until after the present military crisis, as we understand it.

Our informant pointed out that the state taxes were not unjust, as the "taxes" were receiving police and fire protection and schooling facilities, along with other services in the state, a thing not true of families living overseas and having no state taxes to pay—which seemed to be the point of argument.

MISUSE OF AUTHORITY

In our own weak, and apparently misguided way, we had always supposed that authority for government rested with the people—the voters.

This conception apparently is not held by the members of the State Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, who have again killed in committee any attempt to present to the voters of the Old Dominion the poll tax payment question. Just what kind of gods do the members of this committee think they are?

The mechanics of any measure such as a poll tax repeal are this: Passage by both houses in two consecutive terms, and submission to the people. Some years ago a poll tax repeal measure was offered to the voters—the Campbell amendments, but the people (rightly, we believe) considered the cure worse than the cure. What is needed is a clean-cut, simple yes or no on the poll tax. It appears the people will never have a chance to give their opinion at the polls—if the changes of this Senate committee continue their ways.

The action killing the bills this year—there were more than one—in the State Senate is made even more reprehensible by the fact that the House of Delegates had passed the Poll Tax repealer bill with a heavy majority. It was assumed that the Senate would at least have the opportunity to discuss the issue on the floor. But no—the gods-in-Senate-togas killed the measure in direct opposition to the will of the voters, if we are to judge from the cries for repeal which have gone up from every section of our state.

Despite any and all arguments for the head tax as a prerequisite to the right of franchise—and there may be a few more or less valid ones—we hold that the people, the voters, should have the right to decide whether or not such a

The poll tax repealer is dead for another biennium. We wonder what the constituents of those Senate committee members think of it? Somehow, we believe they think in the same manner as the majority of the voters—that the rights of all the Virginia electorate have been summarily abrogated.

Dollars and cents supports are announced at this time, in advance of spring planting, in accordance with a forward pricing provision of the Agricultural Act of 1949. The supports on both corn and soybeans will be reflected through loans and purchase agreements available to producers, as was the case last year, through the county offices of the Production and Marketing Administration.

They Do "Give A Hoot" For Easy

Easy Roberts finally got rid of the noisy pigeons that used to whop it up under his eaves. He must have tried a dozen ways to scare them off. But no matter what he did, they would be right back cooing by his window the next morning.

Then Easy thought of an old stuffed owl he had in his attic. He propped it on the roof so's all the pigeons could see it. They left... and three hoot owls have taken their place. Easy swears the hooting is even worse than the cooing of the pigeons.

From where I sit, quite often a "bright idea" will turn out to be "not so bright" after all. That's why we should never be too cocksure of our ideas and opinions—but always try to keep an open mind. I believe a refreshing glass of beer is the best thirst-quencher—you may believe differently. But who's to say one's right and the other is wrong? Let's just practice tolerance. It'll save a lot of hootin' and hollerin'.

Motor Car Thefts Up Over Nation; Precautions Given

Statistics recently compiled on a nation-wide basis reflect that motor vehicle thefts have increased 25% as compared to the past fiscal year. The record of auto thefts during 1951 as compared to those in 1950 reflect approximately the same percentage in the City of Virginia Beach. While national statistics show an increase in cases of larcenies from autos, etc., during 1951, Virginia Beach showed a decrease from 1950. However, with a new season approaching and the nation-wide picture as an example, Chief of Police Reeves E. Johnson of this city is asking the people to do their part in helping local officers keep this city's record down, and offers the following suggestions for preventing the theft of automobiles, automobile tires and accessories:

- 1—Record all tire and radio numbers, and mark accessories not numbered. Date such reports, as this information may be required when thieves are apprehended.
- 2—Keep unattended cars off the streets, particularly at night.
- 3—If necessary to use car at night, do not park on poorly lighted or little-used streets.
- 4—Lock car at all times, particularly the rear deck.
- 5—If obliged to use parking lots, insist on locking ignition, doors and all compartments when fire rules do not prohibit such locking. While most public repositories will insist that keys be left with cars, the insistence of car owners collectively that their property be protected by locking devices can bring about a compliance with their wishes. Persons who are in the business of storing cars are obligated to see that articles entrusted to their care are delivered intact upon call of owners.

"MOVIE BELLE" VIEWS POSTER

Vera-Allen, who is featured with Fred Astaire in "Belle of New York," current musical movie, admires the attractive multi-color poster of the Winchester Virginia Bicentennial. and should not object to the locking of cars for the protection of property.

If cars are left unlocked on parking lots and in garages, the present shortage of tires alone, particularly white walls, will be an incentive to thieves to enter garages for the purpose of stealing accessories, even though they are obliged to park their own cars for the purpose of familiarizing themselves with conditions previous to actual thefts.

6—When cars are delivered from garages, do not permit them to stand unattended on the streets for any length of time, as thieves study the habits of proposed victims and will take advantage of such opportunities. In the past many cars have been stolen after the garage attendants had delivered them.

7—When cars are stored in public garages or on parking lots insist upon a claim check being issued. Do not yield when attendant says, "You do not need a ticket as I will know you." Remember that without documentary evidence you cannot prove your car was entrusted to their care.

8—Every automobile owner and driver can render assistance to the police by reporting suspicious cases of tire changing whenever and wherever they may be observed. The securing of license numbers of cars near the scene of suspicious tire changings may be of value to the police in the event of theft. Don't wait, notify the authorities at once.

9—If cars are kept in private garages, see that locks are strong, also that hasps cannot be taken off by a screw driver or the hinges removed from the outside. Time gained in resisting a theft is an important factor and may discourage thieves, or possibly lead to their capture due to noise created in attempting to force secure locks.

10—Electric burglar alarm systems which are now being installed on private garages by automobile owners will undoubtedly prevent a lot of thefts. The use of this form of protection is desirable wherever possible.

11—Do not leave car registration or driver's license in car as thieves frequently escape arrest by presenting owner's documents when stopped, by police officers, and unless alert officers require signatures for comparison with documents submitted, thieves may successfully elude the authorities for some time.

Thieves may also present owner's registration card and driver's license to prove ownership when attempting to sell stolen cars.

12—Watch and protect your car as never before. Take no chances, as it is one of your most valuable possessions, and in the event of loss you may not be able to replace it.

Two Beach Men On Cold Mission

While the nation battled the recent record wintry blasts, the U. S. Navy sent two Virginia Beach men, Commander Raymond J. Toner, husband of Mrs. R. J. Toner of 215 51st Street, and Lt. (jg) William Moore, III, USN, formerly of 213 86th Street, into the North Atlantic on board the destroyer USS English, for training under even more rugged winter weather conditions. The English, which has now returned to the United States, took part in cold weather exercises off the coast of Greenland.

During the operation, ships of the Navy task force were subject to "enemy" attacks by submarines, land based aircraft and surface craft.

Public Assistance Payments Decline

Total payments for public assistance were $10,773.15 in January, down from $11,730.15 in December, according to the Department of Welfare and Institutions reports.

The number of cases receiving financial assistance continued to decrease, although applications for services and assistance showed a large increase from the previous month.

Cases receiving assistance during January numbered 36,341, 19,152 of them old age assistance cases, who received an average payment of $22.71. Families numbering 7,738 with 21,901 children, received average payments of $51.37 in aid to dependent children, and 2,809 permanently and totally disabled cases received average grants of $33.40. General relief maintenance averaged $26.39 for 2,294 cases. Cases were fewer in number in all programs except APTD and general relief.

The number of children receiving individual child welfare services in Virginia increased 330 during the year, the increase being largely in foster homes and adoptive homes. During January 7,591 such children received services. Expenditures for the 2,856 foster cases receiving financial assistance averaged $31.52.

Governor Battle Honorary Chairman For Cancer Drive In Old Dominion

Drive Gets Underway 27th; State Quota $260,000

Governor John S. Battle has accepted the position of honorary state chairman for the 1952 Cancer Crusade in Virginia. It has been announced by Dr. Alfred P. Jones, of Roanoke, president of the Virginia Division, American Cancer Society. William R. Perkins, Jr., of Lynchburg, will serve as campaign chairman for the Virginia Division, which has accepted a $260,000 quota for the 1952 Cancer Crusade.

April will again be designated as Cancer Control Month by presidential proclamation and Act of Congress. The national goal for this year's campaign has been set at $16,000,000 by the American Cancer Society. The kick-off meeting for the campaign in Virginia will be held on March 25 at Hotel Roanoke, according to Dr. Jones.

"I am deeply interested in the efforts of the Virginia Division of the American Cancer Society," said Governor Battle. "Last year more than 3,000 Virginians died of cancer—the second largest killer in the United States. Physicians have estimated at least 1,000 of these persons could have been saved by early diagnosis and treatment."

"Contributions will help support research projects at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond and at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. In addition, the Virginia Division conducts an educational program on a year-around basis by presenting lectures, films and exhibits stressing the fact that cancer can be cured if detected and treated early."

Within the next few weeks, the Virginia Division also will put into operation a Cancermobile, which will travel throughout the state in an effort to disseminate the (Continued on Page 4, Section 2)

Cut-over Woodlands Being Planted Heavily Hereabouts

Free seedlings for planting on cut-over woodlands, abandoned cropland or in areas too poorly drained for agricultural crops have been ordered at a fast rate the past several weeks, the Portsmouth office of the Virginia Forest Service has announced.

As of February 15, the quota allotted to the counties of Norfolk, Princess Anne, Nansemond, Isle of Wight, Accomack and Northampton had been depleted to approximately 12,000. This number of seedlings includes 81,500 loblolly pine and 500 cedar seedlings, which number is sufficient to re-forest only 32 acres when the seedlings are spaced 6 1/2 feet apart in rows 6 1/2 feet apart. This spacing will permit planting an even 1,000 seedlings per acre, so that a person interested in obtaining seedlings can easily determine the number of seedlings necessary by knowing the size of the area he wishes to reforest.

Both loblolly pine and cedar are very desirable for windbreaks where it is necessary to protect fields from severe winter winds, and a number of the seedlings previously ordered have been so used. The only restriction placed on the distribution of the seedlings by the Virginia Forest Service is that they may not be used as ornamentals or offered for sale as individual trees such as would be the case from a commercial nursery.

Loblolly pine, the species of pine found growing naturally throughout the Tidewater area, is a very rapid grower and usually pulpwood can be thinned from the plantation and a profitable sale made at an early age. Cedar, although not quite so fast in growth, can be thinned for Christmas trees at a fairly young age, and, later, of course, fence posts can be taken from the area.

The foresters advise that all persons having unproductive land from which they desire a cash crop of trees should re-forest such areas wherever able, for at the rate timber is being cut today, the person owning timber in the future will certainly have a safe investment easily converted into ready cash.

Application blanks for securing the seedlings may be obtained from the Portsmouth office of the Virginia Forest Service at 42-C George Washington Highway, Cradock, telephone 75931, or from County Agent H. W. Odlin, or from the soil conservation offices. Seedlings can now be planted at any time and unlike most agricultural crops do not have to wait for frost-free dates. The services of a forester from the local office will be made available upon request to assist in determining the number of seedlings needed and to help in getting started on the actual planting job.

Remember the seedlings are going fast so your order should be put in promptly.

Ladies' Auxiliary To Have Tea Hour

The Women's Auxiliary of Galilee Episcopal Church will inaugurate a "tea hour" beginning Sunday afternoon, March 9, at 3:30 o'clock in the parish house, The Haven, which is situated on the ocean front next to the church.

All strangers, in the community, newcomers and service personnel, both men and women, are extended a most cordial invitation to drop in for a cup of tea, a friendly chat, and good fellowship.

These afternoons will continue indefinitely, and tea will be served both Friday and Sunday afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

How Civil Defense Pamphlet Reveals Treatment For Atomic Bomb Injuries

Virginia's Office of Civil Defense has just released to 12,000 doctors and nurses throughout the state a new pamphlet which contains the most up-to-date and important techniques for emergency treatment of atomic bomb injuries, according to J. H. Wyse, state coordinator.

Designed as a ready reference chart, the leaflet standardizes and simplifies the problems of caring for the mass casualties anticipated in case of atomic attack. The treatment which will have to be the simplest yet most effective under emergency conditions, is recommended and outlined for each kind of major injury expected.

Titled, "Treatment of Atomic Bomb Injuries," the pamphlet was prepared by Dr. Martin J. Healy, Jr., a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and assistant chief of surgical services at the U. S. Veterans Hospital, Bronx, New York. It is the official Civil Defense publication of 21 states.

Steps Listed
Summarized in the pocket-sized pamphlet are the step-by-step care of hemorrhage, wounds, shock, burns, and fractures. For burns, for instance, two stages of treatment are recommended:

First, quick on-the-scene care. Second, the actual medical treatment. This consists of evaluating the extent of the burn, giving the patient blood, plasma and saline, and dressing the wound with vaseline petrolatum gauze and a moderate pressure bandage. Doctors are advised against debridement, sprays, tannic acid and blister opening.

The priorities among the wounded, for treatment and transportation are also listed. Those with massive hemorrhage are given first attention.

Next follow chest wound cases, shock victims, abdominal cases, burn and crush injuries and head and spine injuries in that order.

The guide closes with a short chart of materials to be used, listed in order of top preference and first and second substitutes.

CHECK PILLOW SIZE
Women who guess at pillow sizes sometimes buy cases which fit their pillows too snugly, says the American Institute of Laundering, and so get a hard, lumpy appearance and a tendency to rip at the seams. Be sure to measure the pillow and purchase the right size cases. It should be two inches wider than the circumference of the pillow to avoid strain during use.

ICE CREAM always gives a simple dessert that's received enthusiastic. A coffee or vanilla ice cream with this sauce is delightful: mix together 1/2 cup each of cream and butter or substitute, 1 tablespoon cocoa and 1/2 cup sugar. Heat to boiling and serve hot over ice cream with silvered roasted almonds.

A delicate dessert that's easily prepared is custard baked in individual cups. Unmold, surround with canned, cling peach slices and top with 1 tablespoon of raspberry preserves or some thin jam.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Coconut Fruit Fluff
(Serves 4)
1 cup drained, canned apricots
1 cup diced, canned pineapple
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup cream, whipped

Cut apricots into quarters. Add pineapple and sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Fold in cream and coconut; chill. Serve in sherbet glasses.

with a glaze made by cooking together 1/2 cup apricot cooking liquid, 1/4 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch.

Use canned or fresh fruits for a fruit crisp: lay peeled or canned fruit in a buttered casserole and sprinkle this topping over them before baking for an hour in a moderate oven. For topping use 1 cup sugar, 1/4 cup flour, 1/2 cup butter or substitute and 1/2 cup broken walnuts.

Here's an unusual sauce for ice cream or vanilla pudding: use 1 cup chopped, pitted, cooked prunes and a cup of the cooking liquid with 1/2 cup each of brown sugar and crushed pineapple and 1 teaspoon cornstarch. Cook slowly 5-10 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

When you have only simple sponge cake and want a quick dessert, spoon butterscotch sauce over it and top with whipped cream into which you have folded some strained, crushed pineapple.

Corn Committee Sets 1952 Goal

The Corn Committee of the Princess Anne County Board of Agriculture had a meeting late in February and worked up rules and regulations for the Princess Anne Corn Growers (100 Bushel Club) for 1952.

The committee set 75 members as its goal to reach this year, which would be 16 more than the membership in 1951, and the membership is open to all adult farmers in the county. The corn entered in the contest is to be one or more acres for each member who will pay $3 dues which will be applied to prizes offered in the contest.

To important changes were made in the rules and regulations for this year, as follows:

First: Instead of the members keeping cost accounts of only seed, fertilizer, lime, cover crops, etc., each member this year will keep a complete cost account of growing the acre or more of corn. Another important change: The committee will not use the point system this year in establishing the prize winners, therefore the farmer producing the largest number of bushels of corn per acre, will win the top prize, and in addition to prizes for the largest yields, the committee is planning to offer a prize to the member for economical corn production. Or in other words, the farmer who grows his corn for the least cost per bushel, will also win a prize whether or not he had the highest yield.

As last year, each member will assist in checking the yield on his own and three other farms and will delay harvesting his corn until the yield has been officially checked.

In addition to prizes, each member joining the club will be invited to a steak banquet given this year by the branch National Bank of Commerce, at Virginia Beach, and also each member who produces 100 or more bushels of corn per acre will be awarded a certificate showing his accomplishment.

The average yield for the 64 members in 1951 was 112.2 bushels per acre, and the goal this year will be to raise that average to 120 bushels per acre for members of the club, as the reason for the club in 1952 is to get an increase in corn production that is being called for by the Secretary of Agriculture.

EXAMINE BLANKET NAP TO DETERMINE WARMTH

If it's warmth you're after, examine the nap when purchasing blankets. Weight of blanket, according to the American Institute of Laundering, does not indicate warmth. A good blanket, they maintain, is relatively light. It retards the escape of body heat and keeps out the cold by means of insulating air cells held in the nap. "Warm as toast" blankets, they say, are those with a nap of good depth, fine, even and springy to the touch, which will not shed when brushed with the hand.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM CREEDS HIGH

Clark Whitehurst Honored on Birthday

On Thursday, February 28, at 8 p. m., Mr. and Mrs. Levy Whitehurst gave their son, Clark, a Junior at Creeds High School, a birthday party in the school gym. The high school students were invited to help Clark celebrate his 18th birthday.

Music for dancing was provided by "The Nighthawks," a four-piece orchestra.

The birthday cake was in three tiers, and with one big puff, Clark blew out all the candles. Punch was served with the cake for refreshment.

One of the guests entertained the group with imitations of movie personalities, a feature much enjoyed by everyone.

Teachers attending the party included S. B. Myers, Mrs. Bessie Bell, and Lou Breedlove. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Levy Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Day, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keeter and Mrs. Wilson.

The Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes each presented Clark a gift, and along with everyone else, wished him a very happy birthday.

Creeds Loses Thriller To Poquoson 52-41

Last Friday, February 29, Creeds lost to Poquoson, but the game was a thriller.

The Creeds boys got the lead early in the game, but lost it after the second period started, and fell way behind. Although never quite catching up, the Creeds boys would pile up points in spurts to make the tilt closer and keep it close.

In the fourth period, within a span of five minutes, the two teams scored about thirty points and really made close and exciting but Creeds fell behind again and the final score was 52 to 41.

Solny Husted was high scorer for Creeds with 18 points. Jimmy Lindsey was second with 14.

Creeds Senior Play Is In Rehearsal

Sandra Williams will be student director of the production, and the play will be presented April 18 in the school auditorium.

At times a toothpick is more to be desired than great riches.

At a distance of about two thousand miles, no girl is hard to please.

Supt. Speaks On Consolidated School

On Tuesday night, February 26, at eight o'clock a meeting was held in the Creeds school auditorium with Superintendent Frank Cox as speaker.

He discussed the details of the proposed consolidated high school for Princess Anne County. All taxpayers and patrons of the school had been invited to be present at the meeting.

A committee of ten persons will make a survey of the taxpayers in the Pungo district to determine whether or not the Creeds High School students will be transported to the new consolidated school when it is completed.

Linda Lee Harrell Treasurer of Assn.

Linda Lee Harrell, of Chesapeake Beach, is the new treasurer of the Princess Anne County Federation of the Student Council of the Bayside Elementary School. Miss Harrell is the 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Edna S. Harrell, and the granddaughter of Mrs. R. W. Spruill, president of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach.

Many Factors Are Involved In Home Garden Post Fight

Controlling diseases in the home garden isn't a matter of just spraying or dusting with chemicals.

Many factors are involved, says S. B. Fenne, plant pathologist at Virginia Polytech. Good growing conditions are important. Vigorous plants are not as susceptible to diseases as weak ones. Destruction of old diseased plant refuse in and around the garden, and proper fertilization and culture, will help provide good growing conditions.

Follow a carefully planned rotation so plants of the same family will not be grown in the same part of the garden in succeeding years. Many plant diseases attack all members of the same family.

Buy good seed and disease-free plants from a reliable dealer. Western-grown bean seed is usually free of bacterial blight and anthracnose, while home-grown seed is often infected. Therefore, it is usually dangerous to save your own bean seeds. Plant only certified Irish potatoes. Varieties resistant to certain diseases have been developed by experiment stations. For instance, any reliable seed catalog will list a number of varieties of yellows-resistant cabbage seed.

Judge F. E. Kellam Speaks In Norfolk

Warning that America's future depends on the preservation of such institutions as the home, the church and the school, Judge Floyd E. Kellam of Princess Anne County lashed out at the dangers of communism in a talk made before members of the Norfolk Cosmopolitan Club last week.

Judge Kellam described the present period as the most crucial in all history, and stated that if America is to remain a great democracy, the threat of communism must be erased.

"The Communists have regard for no law—human or divine—except what is approved by Joseph Stalin," he said. "We are at the crossroads, he added.

Judge Kellam was introduced by Dr. P. B. Stokes, Cosmo of the Day.

Governor Battle has appointed a Rent Advisory Board for Virginia Beach with Mrs. Lucille H. Clark as chairman. Other members of the board are John C. Jackson, J. E. Winslow and C. T. Whitehead.

"The Office of Rent Stabilization is designed to aid in leveling off and stabilizing rents," Morris said. "We do not attempt to find discrepancies but we are interested in arranging fair rents for both landlords and tenants."

3 Bedrooms, Minimum Space
Here is a small home design that really gives you much for your money—three bedrooms, dining area off the kitchen, full bathroom, plenty of closets, spacious living room with a fireplace. Open planning, a feature of many contemporary home designs, is in evidence in the kitchen-dining-living room arrangement. This gives each room a feeling of additional spaciousness, at the same time cuts construction costs to the bone.

This house for the minimum budget was planned for basementless construction. A large attic plus extra space in the garage gives the answer to storage problems. A small heating plant is sufficient to heat this house (floor area not counting garage comes to 922 sq. ft.) and provision for the furnace has been made in the space next to the fireplace. Creator of the design is Architect W. A. Wollander. Information on blueprints and their cost can be obtained from the architect by writing to Small Homes Guide, 82 West Washington, Chicago 2, Illinois.

Doctor Questions Eye Chart Value

Reading letters on a chart across a room is an inadequate test of vision, according to the American Optometric Association, which is emphasizing eyesight conservation in connection with "Save Your Vision Week," March 2-8.

By the Snellen letter chart test, Dr. J. Otis White, president of the association, said, one has 20/20 vision if he sees the letters he is supposed to see at a distance of 20 feet. If he sees at 20 feet only the letters that he should be able to see at 30 feet, he has 20/30 vision.

"The 20/20 standard is a fallacy

Paul Revere Club Will Have Party

The Paul Revere Junior American Citizens Club of Chesapeake Beach will hold a St. Patrick's party following its regular meeting Saturday, March 8, at 10:30 a. m., at the Chesapeake Beach Community House.

The party has been arranged by the following committees: Games and dancing, Peggy Heddy, Carol Hildand and Edward Maley; refreshments, Gladys Lee, Jackie Lee, Barbara Williams, Rose Marie Vellines, Karen Bennett and Sharon Storey. Election of officers for the coming year will take place during the business session. Nominees are: for president, Edward Maley; for vice-president, Michael Harrell; for secretary, Jackie Lee, and for song leader, Sharon Storey.

During each month the programs for the weekly meetings of the Paul Reveres are based on anniversaries of special events recorded in history that highlight the building of American.

The Club is directed by Mrs. R. W. Spruill, president of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach, and is one of three youth organizations formed in connection with the "Build Freedom With Youth" projects of the Woman's Club. The Great Bridge Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, is co-sponsor with the Woman's Club for the Junior American Citizens Club.

It was pointed out that the deadline for registering with the Office of Rent Stabilization has passed, but that the Virginia Beach office would assist anyone in filling out the forms and no penalties would be assessed.

Sue Simple, the dizzy dame, declares that "only ladies use face powder. Men wash!"

which should be exploded," Dr. White said. "It does not mean normal vision nor does it mean average vision. It is just an arbitrary standard set before we knew any better."

"It is inadequate because most critical seeing is done within arm's skills which cannot be tested by length and requires many visual readings a chart 20 feet away."

Among the additional requirements for adequate vision, according to Dr. White, are:

1. Near acuity—ability to focus and see clearly and comfortably at a distance of about 15 inches.
2. Binocular coordination—ability to make the two eyes work together.
3. Depth perception—ability to judge distance and space relationships.
4. Field of vision—ability to see over a large area while focusing on a point straight ahead.

Dr. White said that none of these essential requirements can be tested by a letter chart, and yet many Americans, particularly those who have been in the armed services, think their vision is "up to par" if it meets the 20/20 standard.

she deserves
49½ Million Dollars!

For 1951, the Norfolk and Western paid approximately $49½ million in taxes.

This is enough money to pay the annual cost of educating 326,666 public school students in the six states served by the Norfolk and Western . . . and a goodly part of it goes for that purpose.

It also is enough to maintain a police force for a city of approximately 100,000 for 104 years . . .

... or build 110 modern libraries for cities that size . . . or pay the salaries and expense allowances of the President of the United States, our 96 Senators and 435 Congressmen for more than five years.

Forty-nine and one-half million dollars will buy a lot of public service.

Free enterprise has been good to the Norfolk and Western. Our business comes from the people, and all intelligent business wants to live up to its responsibility to pay its just share of the cost of government and public service. But like any other intelligent business or individual, the Norfolk and Western does not want to see government pour any part of those hard-earned tax dollars down the drain of waste.

EVERY PENNY PAID IN TAXES IS MONEY THAT BELONGS TO THE PEOPLE—TO YOU. THE PEOPLE WHO SPEND IT WORK FOR YOU. DON'T LET GOVERNMENT WASTE THAT MONEY ANY MORE THAN YOU'D LET ANY ONE ELSE WASTE YOUR MONEY.

There's a way to put a stop to government wasteful spending—which today is greater than any time in the history of this country. That way is for the citizens to demand, through their elected representatives, that the people who work for us in government spend our money just as honorably and intelligently as they would spend their own money if they were in our shoes, working to make those tax dollars possible.

THE $49,500,000 THE NORFOLK AND WESTERN PAID IN TAXES IS YOUR MONEY . . . YOURS AND YOUR CHILDREN'S. DON'T LET ANYBODY THROW IT AWAY.

TV SCHEDULE IS NEW FEATURE

Television fans will find their favorite programs listed in the four-day Sun-News schedule of WTAR-TV, which began as a weekly feature of the Sun-News last week.

With the new publication date of the paper set for Thursday, the TV schedule includes programs for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. So, for your weekend television bill-of-fare, refer to the convenient schedule in The Sun-News each week.

The Virginia Beach Erosion Commission, at its first formal meeting on Monday, authorized an engineering firm to prepare plans and specifications to begin immediately the first of a three-phase program to dredge sand from Lakes Rudee and Wesley to replenish the sand beach between 7th Street and 22nd Street and beyond.

The group elected Edward H. Church as chairman, Hal E. Halstead, vice chairman, James G. Kontopoulos, secretary, and C. T. Whitehead, treasurer. Robert B. Taylor is the fifth member of the commission.

At the same time the commission instructed the Myron A. Sturgeon engineering firm of Norfolk to ask for bids for at least three transverse bulkheads designed to preserve the fill under the boardwalk north of the Coast Guard Station at 24th Street and prevent further erosion damage in that area.

In order to speed the work the commission voted to send out notices to at least ten dredging companies on the East Coast to notify them that the job will be advertised and that the time to submit prepared bids will be limited to one week.

A previous plan for a negotiated bid was dropped in favor of advertising for bids, since it was thought by members of the commission that a better price might be obtained that way.

It was estimated that if a large enough dredge is used, 150,000 to 200,000 cubic yards of sand could be pumped per month. This would mean that it would require two and one-half to three months to complete the first phase of the project.

A. L. Cherry, of the Army Engineering Corps, was present at the commission meeting and advised the group that the dredge he brought to the site through the inlet rather than have the equipment shipped to the site and then assembled.

The Sturgeon company's duties as engineers in the project will include preparation of all plans and specifications, including plans for relocating electric, telephone, water and sewer lines; and for repairing the boardwalk; engineering inspections to see that proper materials are brought on the site; establishment of a system of permanent records of soundings off the beach after completion of the fill, and preparation of plans for possible future development of Rudee Inlet as a harbor.

Harold B. Kellam and Hentley G. Moore were designated as the commission's agents for the acquisition of property rights in the required dredging area.

CHAIRMAN

Edward H. Church, above, president of the Bank of Virginia Beach, who was elected chairman of the newly appointed Virginia Beach Erosion Commission at the group's first formal meeting on Monday.

Red Cross Drive Opens Here; Workers Hopeful

Local 4-H Boys Go to Smithfield For Porker Sale

Nine Princess Anne 4-H Club boys will journey to Smithfield on Saturday, March 15, with three hogs each which they hope will make a good showing in the Market 4-H Pig Project and also give them a profit on their investment.

This will be the annual sale for the 4-H Market Pig Project and includes the counties of Princess Anne, Norfolk, Nansemond, Southampton and Isle of Wight. When the boys arrive at the P. D. Gwaltney, Jr., Packing Company's plant on Saturday morning, their pigs will be weighed and classified according to weight and then the judging will take place, with the first prize being awarded in each of the weight classes (consisting of three hogs) will be chosen from the first place of the different weight classes. A T. Lavender of the V.P.I. animal husbandry department will be the judge. After the show, the boys will all be put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder.

The first two and one-half days of the 1952 Red Cross campaign has resulted in a total of $2,977.94 being raised, but officials of the drive were quick to say that this is a very incomplete report since many residential area workers have not been heard from and other divisions have not reported as yet. The goal for the drive is $15,500.

John Fitzgerald, general chairman of this year's drive, revealed that the residential workers, under the direction of Mrs. James Kontopoulos, chairman, and Mrs. Wallace Chari, co-chairman, have accounted for the major share of the early over-all report.

Figures released by campaign headquarters Wednesday showed the residential division had reported $1,661.65, and the special gift section $835.85. Thus far the military, in very incomplete reports, has turned in $62.48, and the business section a total of $30.

Fitzgerald reported unusual enthusiasm on the part of the individual workers and predicted success for the drive. "At this early date we have only received sparse reports and have not heard from county units," he said.

The Red Cross drive will continue through the month of March and end so by sending their check to the Red Cross chapter office in the Community House on Arctic Avenue.

Captain W. Butts Now At Oceana

At change of command ceremony held on Monday, March 10, Captain W. S. Butts, USN, is commanding officer of Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Oceana.

After more than 27 months as commanding officer of NAAS, Oceana, Captain Quilter has been transferred to a new assignment as commanding officer of USS Salsburgh (AV-13) under Commander Air Force, Pacific Fleet.

Widely known in Princess Anne County since he took command of Oceana on November 24, 1949, Captain Quilter has taken a deep interest in community affairs and projects. His special concern has been the program of expanding the size and facilities of the air station during the past year and a half to develop Oceana into a master jet air base.

This program will be continued by the new commanding officer, Captain Butts, who reported here from duty as chief of staff and later to Commander Carrier Division Five, Pacific Fleet.

Rotarians Elect Kellam As Head

Harold B. Kellam, local insurance broker, has been elected president of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club for the 1952-1953 year.

Kellam has unanimously chosen to head the local civic club along with a full slate of officers and directors as submitted by the nominating committee at a meeting of the club last week.

Newly elected officers, who will take office on July 1, in addition to Kellam, are Albin R. Mailhes, vice-president; Herbert A. Holt, Jr., secretary; James A. Perkins, treasurer; William G. Thompson, Jr., Herbert Smith, III, Welton L. Hampton and William H. Fantone, directors, and Bradshaw Pulley, sergeant-at-arms.

Present officers, whose terms of office run through June 30, are: William G. Thompson, Jr., president; Harold B. Kellam, vice-president; Albin R. Mailhes, secretary, and Herbert A. Holt, Jr., treasurer.

Polio Fund Rises To $22,000 Total

Two additional reports have raised the total of the 1952 March of Dimes drive to $21,958.13, according to Mrs. J. D. W. Cassada, treasurer of the Princess Anne Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The Lake Terrace Civic League reported a total of $551.11 from a dance held at Baxter's hall, and the Fifth Naval District reported an additional $46.70.

Mrs. Cassada announced that only one group is yet to be heard from, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which held recently.

Restauranters Plan Meetings

Restaurant operators throughout Virginia have been issued invitations to attend meetings in four cities next week, according to James G. Kontopoulos, of Virginia Beach, president of the Virginia Restaurant Association.

Meetings will be held in Norfolk, Richmond, Roanoke and Lynchburg, and are designed to impart new ideas to food establishment operators in food service.

"These meetings should prove very valuable to the restaurant operator," Kontopoulos said. "Each meeting will be exactly alike."

The Norfolk meeting will be held in the City Auditorium on March 18 starting at 2:30 p. m. The meetings are also open to dietitians and others interested in food service.

Easter Seal Campaign Opening Here

The 1952 Easter Seal campaign for crippled children will begin here on Thursday. Miss Lucy Mason Holt, of Norfolk, president of the Norfolk Area Chapter of the Virginia Society for Crippled Children & Adults, which sponsors the annual appeal, said the campaign will extend through Easter Sunday.

The local drive is a part of the state-wide effort to raise funds for services to all types of crippled children and adults.

A major part of the funds raised will be used to continue the operation of the Society's five regional cerebral palsy treatment centers located in Arlington, Richmond, Norfolk, Harrisonburg and Kingsport, Tenn., which is a joint effort by the Virginia and Tennessee societies. An average of over one hundred and fifty cerebral palsied children are treated in these centers from all sections of the state each month.

Among the other services provided by the Society is a state-wide speech correction program, which is carried out on a cooperative basis with the State Department of Education and the local school divisions. Miss Holt pointed out that of all handicapping conditions in children, those with defective speech such as stuttering, constitute the greatest number.

The Anti-Convulsive Clinic with headquarters at the University of Virginia Hospital and with regional field clinics covering the greater part of the state, is another important service of the Society to children and adults handicapped by epilepsy and related convulsive disorders.

Letters containing the seals are being mailed this week. Anyone who fails to receive Easter Seals through the mail may send his or her contribution to "Crippled Children" in care of the local post office.

Visiting Pastor At Church Here

Visiting Lenten minister, the Rev. Spencer Williams, of Springfield, will conduct the evening service tomorrow, March 14, at 8 p. m. at Galilee Episcopal Church. The Rev. Edmund Berkeley, will have the evening prayer and litany.

Lenten services for children will be held at 3:30 Wednesday. Communion services will be at 10:30 Thursday mornings.

Demoneers Crowned Champs In State Basketball Tourney

The Tidewater Demoneers are the 1952 state girls basketball champions of the Virginia Amateur Athletic Association.

The versatile sextette, with many members residents of Virginia Beach, won the title in the AAU tournament held in Richmond this week. The Demoneers defeated the strong defending champion North American Assurance Society team, 52-32, in the finals.

Members of the Demoneer team dominated play throughout the tournament and several walked off with all-tournament honors for their stellar play during the two-day contest.

Pat Bilbo, of the Demoneers' star forward, was voted the most valuable player in the tournament. The NOB Wave team of Norfolk.

Miss Bilbo was placed at a forward position on the all-tournament team, along with team-mate Jean Holloman. Other players making the all-star team were: Dot Halstrum, of NOB; Polly Russell, of Glen Jordan, and Wanda Dunlop, of Dan River; June Futch and Elizabeth Hummel, of NAAS; Betty Speight, of the Demoneers; Betsy Carper, of McGuire, and Mary Harper, of Dan River.

Falls Church Garage won the consolation finals by defeating Dan River-Vandy, 48-30.

The Demoneers are coached by John A. Tucker, of Virginia Beach.

New $10 License Effective April 1st

After March 15, Virginia motorists will pay $10.00 for a private automobile license in accordance with the provision of the law enacted by the Virginia General Assembly in the session just completed.

C. F. Joyner, Jr., commissioner of motor vehicles, announced that citizens should remember the new fee when they mail their checks in to Richmond for the new license. The former law setting the fee at 30c per hundred pounds is no longer in effect.

The new license fee was proposed by Senator Robert F. Baldwin, Jr., of Norfolk, and it will mean a great saving to the state in administrative costs.

New licenses this year will be in the form of tabs to be attached to the 1951 tag. Commissioner Joyner reminded owners that the present licenses expire on March 31, but said that the grace period would extend until April 15. He urged motorists to purchase their new licenses early to avoid the last minute rush.

The new 1952 tabs and licenses will be on sale at Kellam and Eaton Insurance firm on 17th Street in Virginia Beach and at the treasurer's office in Princess Anne.

The shortage of steel due to defense needs prompted the use of the data tabs in place of new plates.

African Violet Group Meets Next Thursday

The Princess Anne African Violet Society will meet on Thursday, March 20, at the home of Mrs. Nick Asteris, on 19th Street, Virginia Beach. Mrs. Asteris will serve as hostess and Mrs. R. P. Minto as co-hostess.

EYE-WASH IN THE FACE

That past master of off-the-cuff remarks, Harry Truman, now knows what a ballot box full of "eye-wash" in the face means. Our grandparents had a name for the attitude assumed by Mr. Truman in his "eye-wash" and other remarks in like vein . . . they said such a person was "too big for his britches." But that did not imply that he was a "big" man. Quite the reverse. We think it aptly applies to the present occupant of the White House. Pardon us, the word "occupant" was an error.

New Hampshireites did not take kindly to the eye-wash remark about their presidential primary. And in no uncertain terms they hurled hundreds of ballot boxes of the stuff in Harry's somewhat reddened face Tuesday. By an overwhelming vote they said they preferred a man who is almost a politician unknown in national politics. It was apparently a case of "anyone but Truman" with the New Hampshire voters.

Just how strong Eisenhower is was not very definitely decided in that New England primary. True, he handed Bob Taft a sound wallop, but that was expected. Only after General Ike has made his position clear on many issues, both foreign and domestic, will the voters of this country know how to make their choice—and that time must come, else the nation will be voting in the dark.

Sunday Tea Hour Is Weekly Affair

The "tea hour" of the Woman's Auxiliary of Galilee Episcopal Church, which was inaugurated last Sunday, will be held each Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The social hour is held in The Haven, which is located next to the church building. All strangers in the community, new-comers and service personnel, both men and women, are extended a most cordial invitation to drop in for a cup of tea, a friendly chat, and good fellowship.

During the war years, the women of the church conducted a full-time program, "Hospitality House."

Business Women Hear Dr. Wagner

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Princess Anne County heard an address by the Rev. Roland P. Wagner, of Norfolk, in which he paid high tribute to women in business at their regular meeting at the Pine Tree Inn this week.

The meeting was in the form of "Bosses' Night," when members had their respective employers as their guests. Mrs. Virginia Holland, president of the club, presided.

Joe White, of Virginia Beach, rendered two vocal numbers and was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Charles Hitchings.

Surf Club Names Manager for '52

James E. Barry, of Norfolk, has been named managing director of the New Surf Beach and Cabana Club for the 1952 season, which will open on May 29.

Barry previously operated the Windsor House restaurant in Norfolk. He is presently engaged in selecting "big name" bands for appearances at the resort club this summer.

Extensive renovations to the Surf Club will begin immediately, according to Barry, and the club will be open only to those holding membership cards. Invitations to prospective members will be in the mail within the next two weeks, it was reported.

OCEANA SCHOOL

Cage Sextette In Third Place Tie

The feminine side of the Oceana basketball contingent ended its season with its game with the Kempsville girls in the latter's home gym, taking the game 42-34. Doris Harcum led the scoring of the game with 24 points. Newcomer this year, Bobby Wilson, had the crowd cheering at her excellent passing as forward. This game gives the Oceana ladies the county championship.

In the conference, Oceana is tied with Suffolk for third place, with Churchland first, and Franklin second.

Oceana's season started with two regulars from last year, high-scoring forward Doris Harcum, and solid defensive center, Betty McComb, who were co-captains of the squad. Nita Aldridge, Barbara Kernan, Betsy Nelson, Joann Russell and Carolyn Meachum were powerful veterans playing guard, while Charlotte Scarborough, Grace Vagos and Helen Hayman showed experience in scoring.

New additions this year were Bobby Wilson, Nancy Gregg and Myrtle Woodward, forwards, and Betty Cornick, Betty Gilbert were added to the defense. Mary Lee Ward again was manager, and Carol Wilson served as assistant manager. Seniors leaving are Doris Harcum, high scorer for the season, Betsy Nelson and Nita Aldridge, steady guards.

Couch Sterling declared that she relieves any college "would be fortunate in having any of my seniors leaving. They are fine ball players, good clean sports and excellent students."

'Motor Manners' Can Save Life, Says Johnson In Safety Program

"Your 'motor manners' can save a life."

This statement was made this week by Chief Reeves Johnson in explanation of the Police Department's March program of traffic safety education.

"A traffic accident," the Chief declared, "is pretty generally a result of negative action—of NOT heading the law, of NOT driving defensively, of NOT adhering to simple good manners. There is no way of estimating how many lives might be saved every year by the exercise of a little consideration, tolerance and patience, but the number probably would be staggering."

This month's program of courtesy and defensive driving is being conducted in Virginia Beach by the Police Department in cooperation with the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

Chief Johnson said that many of the annual traffic accidents involving pedestrians are perfect examples of how lack of motor manners can be deadly.

"In 1950—the last year for which we have complete figures—8,700 pedestrians were killed in traffic. About half of these people were using the wrong or highway unsafely. They were, in other words being discourteous or disregarding others' rights in their use of the roadway. Add to this figure the number of discourteous drivers also on the highway at the same time, and there is nothing surprising in the death toll."

The Chief cited Governor's Highway Safety Committee figures showing that in practically ALL traffic fatalities either the driver, the pedestrian—or both—was violating a traffic law or a safe practice. In any event, according to the Council, bad motor manners are involved.

"Motor courtesy is easily acquired," Chief Johnson said, "but it can be put into practice only with the exercise of constant attention. The courteous driver is the one who says to himself, 'I'm going to save a life today, by watching my manners behind the wheel.'"

Rehearsals Are Held Each Day

Rehearsal sessions for the annual Junior Woman's Club "Follies" are on a twice-a-day schedule this week and next in preparation for the big show on March 26 and 27, according to Mrs. Starr King, general chairman for this year's event.

Lou Yetter, director for the "Follies," is putting the amateurs thru their paces each day at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and again at 7 o'clock in the evening. Rehearsals are being staged in the Martha Washington Hotel.

"In addition to the afternoon-evening program, some groups are holding rehearsals on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings," Yetter said. "Virginia Beach is blessed with some fine talent and everyone has shown a sincere desire to cooperate."

According to Mrs. Talbot Dickson, general ticket chairman, tickets for this year's production are available through club members now, and the box office at the Beach Theatre will open March 19 for those desiring tickets to the show.

All seats for the show are reserved with the exception of the upper balcony.

Garages Provide Space for Storage

Home builders who want storage and work space, but who want to keep construction costs down, can do both, W. K. Macdonald, of the Princess Anne Lumber Company, declared this week.

Select a garage plan that includes storage and work space, he advised. Garages, being of simpler construction, cost less to build. So, adding the extra space to the garage will cost less than adding the same rooms to the house, he explained.

Attractive garages are low-cost, easy to build and an added value to the home, Macdonald said. In addition to giving necessary protection for the family car, garages make excellent storage and utility areas.

Buyer Has 129 Model-Color Choices

A striking array of miniature Chevrolets illustrates the 129 model-color choices available to the 1952 buyer. Brilliant new colors in solid or two-tone combinations with smartly styled interiors in harmonizing shades are features of the recently introduced line. Betty Rennell is shown above making her selection.

Willis Furniture Company To Expand Retail Facilities On Beach Boulevard

WILL CLOSE NORFOLK STORE END OF 1953

The Willis Furniture Company, Inc., will close its main Norfolk store at the end of 1953 and concentrate its activities at the wayside furniture mart the firm established on Virginia Beach Boulevard at Thalia in 1950, according to Ben J. Willis, secretary of the 60-year-old firm.

At the time of the announcement, Willis also outlined an extensive expansion program at the wayside store which was established by converting the main building of the former Tidewater Memorial Hospital to commercial purposes in September, 1950. He estimated a store containing 65,000 square feet, all on one floor, when the construction program is completed.

The need for more space in modern furniture marketing, plus high rental costs in the city business area, are given by Willis as factors in the company's decision to move. He also pointed out that the opening of the bridge-tunnel between Norfolk and Portsmouth and the expected resulting traffic pattern change, was given consideration.

A remodeling program at the wayside store which will add approximately 5,000 square feet of floor space, is nearing completion, and is expected to be open this weekend. This is a building 50 by 75 feet at the eastern end of the main structure.

Joseph Lyle, Jr., on Dean's Honor List

Announcement was made yesterday that Joseph Lawrence Lyle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lyle, of Bay Colony, a student at the Virginia Episcopal School, Lynchburg, was listed on the Honor Roll of students with grades of 90 per cent or over, for the month of February.

The announcement was made by Dr. George L. Barton, Jr., headmaster at the school.

Forrester Named Regional Director

George T. Forrester, Jr., of Bay Colony, Virginia Beach, has been named assistant regional director of the State Farm Insurance companies of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, it has been announced by H. E. Baumberger, of Richmond, regional director.

In his new position Forrester will assist in the direction of the agency activities of more than 400 company representatives in the four regions. He is the son of Mrs. G. T. Forrester and the late Rev. Forrester, of Virginia Beach.

C & P Officers Are Re-Elected

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia at their regular meeting recently re-elected all officers of the company.

H. Randolph Maddox was re-elected president, and other officers re-named are: Frederick G. Macarow, Robert C. McCann and William J. McManus, vice presidents; Robert W. Michie, vice president and controller; Robert V. Russell, secretary and treasurer; Stephen H. Fleicher, general counsel; J. Rhodes Mitchell, vicepresident and general manager, and W. Bernard Thulin, auditor.

Following re-election of the officers, the directors approved expenditures of $874,000 for the improvement and expansion of telephone facilities to keep pace with growing defense communication needs and continuing heavy public demand for service.

Many people get off on a detour long before they reach the road of happiness.

Council shows that millions of dollars in new accommodations and facilities and in streamlining the old to bring them to perfection is now being spent. In addition, a number of state-wide organizations, led by the State Commission on Conservation and Development, headed by Sidney Kellam, former Princess Anne County Treasurer, are sponsoring a campaign to give the visitor the heartiest welcome of his travels. The campaign is known as the "Virginia Welcomes You" campaign, and will be conducted among the 200,000 employees and managers of the travel industry in the state.

A glance around Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County will indicate the progress being made in this locality to prepare for the summer trade, and every sign indicates that business this year will exceed any of the previous years in the resort's history.

It's a "holdup"!
A "holdup" like this on your telephone party line can rob you and your neighbors of important calls. A telephone off the cradle or hook will cause your line to register "busy" to anyone calling you. And that applies to other telephones on your line, too. Care about this small but important detail will help both you and your neighbors enjoy better telephone service.

Underground story
You've probably seen telephone crews around the countryside laying underground cable. It's a fascinating job, with an interesting history. Telephone cable was placed underground for the first time in 1858. A plow, hitched to a freight locomotive, was used to bury the cable. The cable of that day would not last long underground, but telephone engineers developed cable that would. Today, fast-working, labor-saving ditching plows open the ground, place special armored cable in the ditch and cover it—all in one operation!

GARDEN GAB

DAYLILIES

The Daylily might really be called the lazy gardener's friend, for it requires so little care.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Taylor of Linkhorn Park spent last weekend in Arlington with Mrs. Taylor's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dawson.

Jack Cole, a student at Virginia Military Academy, Lexington, spent last weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, at their home on 53rd Street.

Mrs. Benjamin Allen is a patient in the Virginia Beach Hospital.

Mrs. Frank Dusch and Mrs. Edward Raquet left last Friday to spend several weeks at Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Ralph Gifford has returned to her home in the Mayflower Apartments after spending several days on the Eastern Shore.

Mrs. Robert Ripley has left for Alexandria to spend some time with her sister, Mrs. Lee Herbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tanner Rose and children, Tanner and Keithley, will arrive tomorrow from Richmond to spend the weekend with Mrs. Rose's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Taylor, in Linkhorn Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Miller, of Kingsport, Tenn., have been guests of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton M. Miller, in the Mayflower Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Royster have returned to their home in Cavalier Park after spending several weeks in Biloxi, Miss.

Daylilies will grow in sun or shade, and are not particular as to soil. Planted in any normal garden soil they will grow and bloom year after year, and will prosper and multiply under ordinary garden conditions. However, like all other flowers, they will do even better with a little care. First of all, they should not be planted too deep, and the roots should be spread out, not planted downward in a hole. They can be planted either in the Spring or in the Fall, though the Fall is, perhaps, a little better. (There are some good bargains now in the lily catalogs.)

Any good fertilizer, and water during dry spells, is all that is necessary for several years. When the clumps become too large and crowded, it is then wise to divide them, and this we would advise doing in the Fall.

Daylilies seem to survive all conditions of weather, and do not suffer from the severe northeast storms of wind and spray near the ocean. Some varieties are dormant, and entirely disappear during the winter. Others stay green most of the year—but freezing weather, such as we have recently had, will turn their foliage brown.

Many may now be had in a wide variety of colors, ranging from pale lemon through the various shades of yellow, salmon, apricot, pink, red, brown, and some are lavender. There is now a variation in height, beginning with the new Lilliputians, which grow only from 15 to 24 inches tall, through varying heights up to 4½ feet.

With care in selecting your plants, you can now have bloom in your garden from May until October. Our nursery catalog says "Not all Daylilies bloom at the same time. The flowering period of each variety, after being established in your garden, lasts usually from four to six weeks. By careful selection you may have varieties that bloom at different seasons and many bloom again in the Fall, thus prolonging the season in your garden."

For cutting, there are several kinds that will stay open late into the night, and there is always the new bloom next day.

For daily pleasure in your garden all during the summer months, plant the lily for which you need not soil.

Now is the time
1.—To prepare soil for all planting.
2.—To plant summer bulbs.
3.—To plant dahlias, after soil has been fertilized and stakes put in place.

Call the fire department! Always know the telephone number of the nearest fire station... the location of the nearest fire alarm box. Turn in alarm immediately!

Stay out of a burning house! If fire is out of control, don't return for valuables or other possessions. You may be trapped by flames or overcome by smoke. Life is one thing you cannot replace. Let the firemen do the work... stay clear!

Etheridge Is Selected for County Post

STATE SENATOR NAMED EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

State Senator V. Alfred Etheridge has been named executive secretary to the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors as a result of action taken by the Board at a special meeting Monday night.

Etheridge's appointment was in accordance with the provisions of a bill passed as an emergency measure by the Virginia General Assembly during the recently completed session of that body. The bill was introduced for Princess Anne County.

The Board specified that Etheridge's primary duties will be that of building inspector. His salary was set at $4,250 per year, plus $750 for expenses. It was pointed out that his salary would be derived chiefly from building fees collected by his office. The act under which the Board appointed Etheridge provides that the Supervisors could assign to the executive secretary any and all duties specified for such an office by the Code of Virginia. One of his first duties will be to prepare a list of employees of the county entitled to social security under the new act of the General Assembly and to prepare a plan for administering social security in the county.

In another action the Board voted unanimously to place all county employees under social security. Commonwealth's Attorney Paul W. Collins advised the Board that social security provided the county the cheapest form of a retirement plan. He estimated the present cost at $7,000 to $10,000.

Sheriff C. Roger Malbon explained a new plan to provide transportation for personnel of the Sheriff's Office.

Princess Anne 4-H's Win Top Show Prize

Princess Anne County farm folk have every reason to be proud these days. A glance at the results of the recent sixth annual 4-H Market Hog Show and Sale at Smithfield reveals that Princess Anne and Isle of Wight Counties walked off with the major awards.

Individual top honors went to young Jimmy Bright, 10-year-old student at Creeds School, who won the reserve championship with two Berkshire crosses with spotted Poland Chinas. Jimmy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bright, of Back Bay.

Princess Anne and Isle of Wight won all first and second prizes in five weight classes in the five-county competition. Princess Anne took the reserve championship, two blue ribbons and one red ribbon.

Another pen of Berkshire crosses exhibited by Eugene Martin, of Back Bay, also took top honors in its weight division.

District Agent Joseph W. Rogers, of Emporia, spoke briefly to the contestants. "I am glad to see that you are not sacrificing quality for quantity," he said.

Civic Club Hears Erosion Problem Discussed at Meet

Virginia Beach's erosion problem is here to stay. That was the theme expressed by a panel of speakers at the regular meeting of the Virginia Beach Civic Club Tuesday night.

Robert B. Taylor, a member of the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission, and the principal speaker, also told the civic club members that approximately twelve property holders of the Rudee Inlet area are asking three times the price their property is considered worth by the Commission and the work on the program is being retarded because of this.

A. L. Cherry, representing the Army Engineers, stated that shore breakwaters would be very expensive and might not be effective at all.

J. C. Cauley, third member of the panel and representing Myron Sturgeon, engineers, went into detail concerning dredging operations planned for the Rudee Inlet area, or whatever area is finally selected.

Edwin Hall, club president, presided at the meeting.

Church Speaks At League Meet

Edward H. Church, chairman of the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission, spoke to members of the Woman's League for Good Government at the group's tea given at the American Legion Club last Friday.

The commission chairman sketched the background of the erosion problem at Virginia Beach, pointing to the beginning of the problem and the steps planned by the recently appointed erosion body.

Church stressed the magnitude of the problem and called for cooperation of all to help toward the solution of it. He told of the work ahead for the commission and explained at last meetings of the group and its records will be open to the public at all times.

New Newspaper Makes Bow Here

A new weekly newspaper—the Princess Anne Free Press—made its debut last week at Virginia Beach, and publishers of the paper have announced that it will be published each Thursday.

According to information contained in the new paper's first edition, the newspaper will be printed in the plant of the News-Herald, a Suffolk, Virginia, newspaper.

Listed as publisher of the Free Press is J. Wilcox Dunn, Virginia Beach resident. The editor is Mrs. Grace Olin Jordan, who formerly served as editor of the Virginia Beach News, which was purchased by the Virginia Beach Sun on January 1, 1952.

Mrs. Frances Shoemaker will serve as advertising manager and Mrs. Betty Deal as society editor, according to the newspaper's announcement.

INCUMBENTS SILENT AS TO INTENTIONS

Two Virginia Beach men have announced their candidacies for the City Council election to be held June 10 to fill two seats on the city's five-man Council.

The announced candidates are Frank A. Dusch, 54, a resident of Cavalier Drive, and John W. McCombs, 35, hotel owner. It is the initial entry into politics for both men.

Dusch will have the backing of the incumbent political organization and McCombs, in his announcement, stated "that he hoped to have the support of the organization in the city."

Dusch is a native of Norfolk, where he resided until he moved to Virginia Beach some six years ago. He has extensive real estate holdings in Norfolk, but has shown a keen interest in the welfare of Virginia Beach since becoming a resident.

He is married and is the father of two children, both of whom are married and reside out of the city. Dusch is a Navy veteran of World War II, and holds the rank of lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve.

The candidate is a member of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church, the Rotary Club, Princess Anne Country Club and the Khedive Temple of the Shrine.

Dusch was educated at the Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford, and Washington and Lee University. McCombs is owner-operator of the Sinclair Hotel, is married and the father of two children. He is a native of Iowa and has been a resident of Virginia Beach for six years.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Virginia Beach Hotel Association and a member of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church.

Amusement Levy May Aid Finances

A bill to permit Princess Anne County to levy a tax on speedways and on amusements visiting the county, such as circuses, may be a solution to the County Board of Supervisors' problem of raising additional revenue.

State Senator V. Alfred Etheridge, newly appointed executive secretary to the board, explained the bill which was passed by the Virginia General Assembly this year to members of the board at its meeting on Monday.

Referendum To Be Sought On School Finance

A $2,500,000 program to finance a white high school and $300,000 to complete the Euclid Training School for a referendum to the Princess Anne County School Board for Negroes is the basis for a plan to propose to the Board of Supervisors and the Circuit Court Judge, according to Frank W. Cox, superintendent of schools for the county.

Cox stated that he felt that all of the funds would not be necessary, since the county now is entitled to $1,500,000 in Federal funds. This figure is based on the number of children brought into the county by parents connected with the Federal government.

At the School Board's all-day session Tuesday, members were assured of adequate backing by citizens in their request for funds. A delegation of some 300 persons appeared before the board, expressing their approval of the proposals.

In other action, the board discussed a budget for 1952-53 amounting to $878,640. This is an increase over last year's budget of $729,918. The increase is due chiefly to increased teachers' salaries.

The board signed a blanket insurance policy covering the county's school system for an insurable value of $2,164,320 at a rate of 1.434c per 100, said to be the lowest in the state because of the superior construction of the county schools.

Local Junior Club Member Heads Group

Mrs. W. W. Connell, Jr., of the Princess Anne County Junior Woman's Club, has been named chairman of the Sixth District's committee to select the outstanding Junior member from among the District's Clubs.

Mrs. Connell and her committee will name the Sixth District's outstanding member at the forthcoming meeting of the District at the Cavalier Hotel, April 3. Mrs. R. Lynn Kennett, president of the Princess Anne County club, is that club's candidate for the award.

The winner of the District award will be entered in the State competition at a later date. Each club entered a candidate for the District honor and in turn each district's winner is entered in the state-wide competition.

The Virginia Beach Sports Club was host to the Tidewater Demoneers, State AAU basketball champions, at their dinner meeting at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club on Tuesday of this week.

New Taxes Planned To Combat Erosion

In a busy two and one-half hour meeting Monday night, the City Council passed on first reading proposed ordinances calling for new luxury taxes designed to finance the new Virginia Beach Erosion Commission in its work to replenish the sand beach and repair the damaged boardwalk.

The proposals, which call for a 3% tax on hotel rooms to include hotel meals, a 2% tax on prepared food served in restaurants, an increase from the present 2-cent tax on cigarettes to 3c, and a more stringent 5% tax on amusements, will come up for final action at the next Council meeting.

The Council also approved a 10% wage increase for city employees, exclusive of department heads and those in administrative positions.

A total of $250,000 which the city borrowed on tax anticipation notes, was turned over to the Erosion Commission. This is to be repaid by the group from funds collected through the special taxes. The Council stipulated that it desired a monthly accounting of funds from the Erosion Commission.

In requesting the 10% pay raise for city employees, City Manager Philip Ansell pointed out the raise would apply to police and fire department personnel and workers in the water, street, sewer and sanitation departments. The city was estimated at $1,644,000.

J. C. Easler, a Virginia Beach contractor, was awarded a contract for alteration and repair to the City Hall at a cost not to exceed $6,300.

Residential Unit Tops Red Cross Campaign Quota

While most divisions have not reported, the residential works of the current Red Cross drive have already exceeded their quota of $100,000, according to figures released by John Fitzgerald, chairman of the Princess Anne Chapter campaign.

The residential division had set out to raise $35,000 of the total goal, but late Wednesday had reported $35,34 in excess of that goal.

Mrs. James O. Kautepanos is chairman of the residential division and Mrs. Wallace T. Clark is co-chairman.

Fitzgerald indicated that the drive was going smoothly but that reports from most divisions were slow to come into headquarters.

Wm. P. Kellam Being Boosted as Va. Legion Head

William P. Kellam, of Virginia Beach, is being heavily supported for the post of State Commander of the American Legion, according to a report from Charlottesville this week.

The endorsement of Kellam for the high state office was given at a gathering of members of the Virginia Department while in Charlottesville for a Spring conference.

Kellam has been very active in Legion work and has been one of the prime movers in the development of the Princess Anne Post No. 113.

Aspirant for President May Be Beach Visitor

United States Senator Robert A. Taft, who is now campaigning for the Republican nomination for President, and Secretary of Commerce Charles E. Sawyer, may visit Virginia Beach in May, if present plans materialize.

Senator Taft, known in Washington as "Mr. Republican," and Sawyer, are tentatively scheduled to attend the annual meeting of the Commercial Club, of Cincinnati, on May 23, 24, and 25, which is to be held at The Marshalls, 66th Street and Ocean Front.

Arrangements for the meeting have been completed by E. O. Jewell, director of the Norfolk Port Authority, and he expects the purpose of his undertaking to Virginia Beach, since he feels certain he "could not have persuaded the select group to meet here" if he had not had Virginia Beach "to entice them."

Probably no other club can boast a more impressive membership than the Cincinnati group. The club is made up of approximately fifty members, all top executives in the industrial life of this country. Both Taft and Sawyer are members of the club.

Members will arrive in Norfolk by a special train made up of five Pullman cars containing 50 bedrooms or compartments. John J. Emery, president of Emery Industries, Inc., and Thomas Emery Sons, Inc., is president of the club.

Commission Circulates Letter Regarding Problems and Solutions

The Virginia Beach Erosion Commission, through its chairman, E. H. Throm, is circulating the following letter to the public. The letter outlines the makeup of the commission, its problems, and what it hopes to accomplish in rebuilding the sand dunes. This is the letter:

To the Townspeople and Citizens of Virginia Beach:

Knowing of your interest in the City of Virginia Beach and particularly in its erosion problem, I thought you would be interested in knowing what has taken place up to the present time. After a study which was made by a group of citizens and the Council they asked the Honorable Harry B. Davis, member of the General Assembly, to introduce a bill providing for an erosion commission composed of five members to be appointed by the Governor. The bill was an emergency measure and became effective upon the signature of the Governor. The Governor has signed the bill and immediately appointed an erosion commission, composed of C. T. Whitehead, R. B. Taylor, H. E. Holstead, James G. Koutoupanos and myself. We had our first meeting on Monday, March 10, 1952, and I was elected chairman.

Prior to the appointment of this erosion commission, the engineering firm of Myron A. Shurgeon had been consulted by the Council and we have retained this firm because of the previous work which they have done in connection with the erosion problem.

After a study of some six years, the U. S. Army Engineers have recommended that sand be pumped on the beach. This has been set up in three phases, the first to be from 7th Street and 22nd Street and farther and as we feel that this is the most pressing problem, we want to proceed with this work at once.

Since it will involve a large expenditure of public funds, all safeguards must be put around the spending of it. We have directed the engineering firm of Myron A. Shurgeon to prepare the necessary plans and specifications, and bids will be taken as soon as possible for the completion of the first phase of this work.

The erosion commission does not have the authority to assess taxes and it will not have any funds in hand except those funds appropriated to them by the Council. The Council has decided that the revenue needed for this purpose will be raised if's office in their duties at a saving of 7 1/10 cents per mile. Under the plan the State would pay for two-thirds of the transportation expenses, remitting payment to the county at the end of the year.

By this arrangement the State will buy the automobiles used, getting them without tax, and would furnish gasoline at 12 cents less per gallon, Holstead said.

At the present time, the four deputies use their own cars and are repaid at six cents a mile, of which the State pays four cents.

The Board voted to set $10,000 into the year's budget for the cars. John V. Fentress, County Clerk, outlined a proposed budget of $101,609 for the county police department, based on an increase of the present staff of 11, to 22, to include a chief, a sergeant, 18 patrolmen and two men to operate the jeeps used in the Summer beach patrol.

Broken down, the budget shows $65,610 for salaries; $15,921 for new cars and two jeeps; $4,430 for uniforms; $3,532 for operational maintenance; and $1,100 for radio maintenance.

Taking no positive action, the Supervisors agreed to put the amount in the budget for later consideration. They also tentatively allocated $2,000 for civil defense.

Supervisor Floyd T. Dwyer, of the Lynnhaven District, declared several times during the session that taxes on housing developments in Princess Anne County were not high enough. "Each child in schools costs the ed by a special luxury tax on hotel rooms, prepared food, cigarettes and amusements, and it is my understanding that there will not be any tax on real estate for this purpose.

The commission is serving without pay. They do not have, as yet, any paid employees and will only employ such employees as are absolutely necessary to the efficient operation of this commission, but I do want you to know that the commission's records will be open to public inspection at all times, that the meetings will be open to the public at all times and that we invite you, whenever you find it possible to inquire as to the time and place of the meetings and attend them and, if you desire, any information at any time, any member of the commission will be delighted to furnish any that they have available.

This is a very serious problem facing the City and it needs the cooperation of everyone. I hope and believe that we are going to be able to correct it and I hope it can be done quickly, bearing in mind again that all safeguards must be put around the spending of public funds. It will be appreciated if you will seek information about this and inform your friends as to what is taking place.

Trusting that we will receive your full cooperation, I am
Very truly yours,
E. H. Church, Chairman

'No Place Like Home' Beach Resident Learns From Trip

4-Hers Win

Many of us use the expression "There's no place like home," but few, if any, of us use it with so much meaning as one Virginia Beach resident. She is Mrs. Louis G. Throm, of 9th Street, South Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Throm has the unique distinction of having been present in Havana, Cuba, recently when that country's government was overthrown by the forces of General Fulgencio Batista. The revolution, or that part witnessed by Mrs. Throm, will live with her forever.

"News reports phrase it as a brief, almost bloodless revolution," Mrs. Throm said, "but it was anything but a quiet affair." Mrs. Throm left Cuba with other American citizens. "We were whisked away to the airport immediately upon outbreak of shooting and as I boarded the plane for the United States, shots could be heard from all parts of the city."

Mrs. Throm agreed that it was no pleasant experience, but one that she will never forget. The element of surprise and the suddenness of the Batista coup probably accounted for the short life of the actual shooting, according to Mrs. Throm.

The deposed president of Cuba, June 10 election, although the terms of three present councilmen expire.

Only two seats will be open, since the new city charter reduces the number of councilmen from six to five.

Present councilmen whose terms expire next September are Vice-Mayor H. E. Halstead, Councilman R. L. Simpson. None of these men have indicated they will seek re-election.

Many observers feel that Simpson, who with Councilman W. W. McClanahan, Jr., represents what has been termed the "anti-organization" forces on the present Council, will seek re-election and its awaiting the selection of a running mate. Speculators have also expressed the thought that W. Russell Halchett, former town manager, may seek a seat, but Halchett has stated that he has not given the matter any thought.

Neither Councilman Barr or Vice-Mayor Halstead have made any announcement, and the feeling is that neither will seek new terms. Halstead has been recommended by Council for appointment to the newly-created post of City Sergeant, an appointment which may be made at any time by Circuit Court Judge Floyd E. Kellum.

The deadline for candidates to file for the June election is near, since the law requires filing 60 days prior to the election date.

Tip to motorists: Safety in driving an automobile is a give and take proposition — give thought and take care.

Carlos Prio Socarras, with his wife and two daughters, has taken refuge in Mexico, but left Cuba under the protection of the government that forced him into exile for the second time. He was exiled to Miami, Fla., in 1935, by the Batista group, when General Batista, the former army sergeant, began his 10-year rule of Cuba.

The revolution took place on Monday, March 10, and Mrs. Throm returned to Virginia Beach on March 12. She visited in Puerto Rico and Jamaica, in addition to Cuba on her trip.

After her unusual experience, Mrs. Throm vows that she will think twice before visiting Cuba again. She

The Luray Caverns, at Luray, is the largest cave in the State. Its subterranean rooms bear names such as Giant's Hall, Thruway Room, Ball Room, and Cathedral, in which there is an organ-like formation of stone. ## THE FOOD TAX

Although we are in the middle of March, it is not too early to be thinking about those special taxes the city plans to place on certain items starting May 1. The idea of the room tax, the cigarette tax, amusement tax and the tax on prepared foods is a good one and the purpose for which they are being levied is to pay for the cost of combatting erosion and repair of the boardwalk are sound. Our only thought is that the city should clearly define beyond a shadow of doubt the items to be taxed under the classification of "prepared foods."

We know that ignorance of the law is not a valid excuse, but the explanation as to just what is prepared food should be stated in the simplest of terms so that there can be no room for misunderstanding. It is felt that this tax in particular may prove highly controversial and confusing unless thorough preparation is given to its wording.

And, while on the subject of these special taxes, we might suggest that the city fathers place strict enforcement provisions in the ordinance so that all funds thus collected can be channeled into the immediate problems of preservation of the beach, advertising, and the other purposes for which the taxes are levied.

FORM YOUR OWN OPINION

A school teacher asks "Collier's" why it is that so much hullabaloo is raised over 35 colleges and universities banning football as a means of cleaning up the moral rot that has become evident in so many places, while no one sheds a tear over 200 colleges that are closing, or planning to, because they haven't enough money to carry on.

The reason EDUCATIONAL schools in so many instances are starving to death is the same reason that ATHLETIC colleges find their morals ruptured.

That may sound a bit complicated, but give it a bit of thought and then enlarge it into your own editorial on de-generation of public morals and public responsibility.

MISTAKES

All men, no matter how big, do make mistakes. But biography teaches us that big men refuse to falter because of mistakes. It is true that there are lots of men who make no mistakes but only because they attempt few things.

Henry Ford forgot to put a reverse gear in his first automobile. Edison once spent over two million dollars on an invention which proved of little value.

The man who makes no mistakes lacks boldness and the spirit of adventure. He is the one who never tries anything new—he is the brake on the wheel of progress.

Don't spend your time regretting your mistakes, but get up and hit the line twice as hard. You'll never succeed beyond the mistake to which you are willing to surrender.

THE AMERICAN WAY

By MORTON CLAUSEN

DANGER AHEAD!

It is possible that the year 1952 may present the most crucial problems ever faced by this republic. Everywhere we note an aura of anticipation—in the thoughtful reflection of the individual, in the growing day-to-day rather than long-range planning of business, in the increased conversion tempo of industry from civilian goods to war material, and in the mounting public distrust of our political and diplomatic leadership.

On the domestic scene we are facing a major political election in an increasingly rebellious mood—a rebellion that goes beyond party politics and touches the core of the political, economic, social and moral ideologies that are fundamentally American.

With growing clarity the American people are beginning to realize that we have cut adrift from the basic moorings of Americanism to muddle aimlessly among strange alien cross-currents where revolutionary modes of reckoning are at variance with true and tried methods of orientation and navigation.

As a nation we are divided into two camps beyond the ideologies (or lack of ideologies) of our two major political parties—those who want less and those who want more power vested in the federal government. We are becoming increasingly skeptical toward socialism.

Thus it seems there may be a definite trend toward the Republican political camp in the 1952 election. But an ever larger segment of the voters refuses to be pinned down. Everywhere we are met with indifferent shrugs of the "what's-the-difference" attitude.

Here, then, is a real challenge to America: Can we swiftly develop a political leadership—within either or both parties—that will give the people clear-cut political, economic, social and moral issues to which a reasoning, intelligent and moral citizenry is entitled?

It would be a disaster to the nation should we continue our vacillating middle-of-the-road policies of the past. Being half socialist and half capitalist deprives us of the qualities that compel the world respect our position of leadership demands.

No nation can long exercise faithfulness to its founding precepts and ideals and remain strong enough to withstand disintegration from within and aggression from without. That's our predicament now and in the fateful year ahead. There are those who believe this to be our last chance to return to more firm ground.

On the international scene we are pushing steadily on toward

IMAGINATION CAN BE CRUEL

Terry D. Renninger, Barborton, Ohio, says he thinks that one of the greatest fears a person can have is the fear that someone is laughing at you.

Thinking back over his childhood, he doesn't remember having any fear until he started to school. He had an impediment in his speech, and could not read as well as the other children. In the first grade, he gave a recitation "A frog on a log that couldn't croak because he had a frog in his throat." Instead of giving a clear and distinct speech like the other children, he was just a bunch of jumbled-up words. From that day he carried the nickname of "Hawdy," a shameful word to him, as it meant he couldn't speak well.

From that day on he had doubt of ever trying to read or speak in the classroom. So he concentrated all his efforts on arithmetic. By the time he was in the third grade he was doing sixth grade arithmetic, but was far behind in reading ability.

He carried the awful nickname "Hawdy" for eight years through grade school. In junior high school the nickname left him. But in his own mind was the fear that someone was laughing at him. To offset this fear, he built up resentment of people, and resolved that he would show them he would amount to something. He got excellent grades in science and mathematics, and because of these grades he was considered a good student. He worked his way through college and was graduated in the top fourth of his class, but he never participated in social affairs at college because he was still carrying his fear.

After this he took an active part in Sunday school and fraternal organization work. Within a short time he was elected to the top offices of these organizations. Doing this type of work helped his pronunciation of words and gave him confidence.

He says that as he looks back over the years, he believes it was mostly his imagination that people were laughing at him.

the crucial crisis point in 1952. Our diplomatic offensive and "get tough" policy against Russia have paid off handsomely in recent months. There is every reason to believe that the present administration will continue to be an increasing irritation to Stalin's quest for world domination. How far can we push in that direction with a degree of safety?

The impending rearmament of Japan and West Germany, designed to close the gaps in ringing Russia more completely against expansion, may provoke the third world war we have hoped to avoid. Yet, we cannot afford to weaken in our determination now that we have taken the stand.

Will Stalin take the big gamble in this year of 1952? That will be his last chance. As our military preparedness is expanding by the hour, the Kremlin must make its choice between two unsavory alternatives: Risk war or a gradual retreat behind the iron curtain into a semi-isolationism that will deprive Russia of a much-needed trade contact with the West.

With these major problems impinging their gravity upon our thoughts, plans, hopes and aims for the future, can we deny the crucial aspects of 1952?

Yet, we shall meet them successfully. We shall do so because deeply within ourselves we shall become more consciously aware of a precious heritage of a poise and ingenuity that mark a great people. Our energies are deeply rooted in individualism, justice and morality—an individualism that will not long tolerate subjugation and unjust restraints, a justice that seeks and recognizes true values, and a morality that has the courage to admit error and a willingness to vigorously and swiftly correct that error.

The trophy won in the State AAU meet will be displayed at the Community House. Each player on the team also received a miniature trophy, and other awards were given individual members for outstanding performance.

Among the winners of individual trophies was Pat Bilbo, who was chosen outstanding player in the AAU tournament. Jean Holloman, Miss Bilbo and Betty Speight were chosen on the final All-Star team and to commemorate this honor are the proud possessors of miniature gold basketballs.

Proudly displaying miniature silver basketballs are Beverly Neal and Betty Smith, who were chosen as members of the second All-Star sextette.

Another honor befell Betty Speight—who placed third in the State Basketball Beauty Contest, and was awarded a plaque.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch in a story of the AAU games, said the defensive playing of the Demoneers was the most superb ever witnessed in a State AAU Tournament. The guards allowed the 1951 state AAU champions, North America Assurance Society, to put in only one field goal in the first half and six in the second half. They hardly allowed the Richmond team room to breathe, let alone get close to the basket.

In other Councilmanic action: Vacated a street directly in front of the Star of the Sea Catholic Church. This street had been plotted, but never opened.

It Isn't the Heat—It's the Hide!

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were less more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in.

"Boys," he says, "don't get so riled up. It all depends on what color the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays than animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless arguments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "hot up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

Governor Battle Urges Buying of Easter Seals

Governor John S. Battle, in proclaiming mid-March to Easter the official Easter Seal Month, called attention to the fact that in the State of Virginia there are several thousand crippled children and handicapped adults who must have the help of the able-bodied citizens if they

American Camellia Society To Meet at Cavalier Hotel Today

A meeting of the directors of the American Camellia Society today will open a three-day meeting of the group at the Cavalier Hotel, according to Frederick J. Huet, general chairman of the convention.

The Virginia Camellia Society is host to the national organization, which includes members from every nook and corner of the United States.

The directors' meeting will be held from 3 to 5 p. m. this afternoon and will be followed with a get-together cocktail party at 6 o'clock.

are to become self-sustaining individuals.

"Through Easter Seal funds," Mr. Battle said, "services are provided to aid these less fortunate citizens in their effort to take their proper place in society. Money realized from the Easter Seal drive will go to specialized services of rehabilitation, medical and educational aid for the crippled, administered by the Virginia Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its local affiliates. Since the cost of these services has increased substantially, it will be helpful if those participating in the drive will take this factor into consideration in their contributions."

Easter Seals have been mailed to most heads of families, but if you have not received yours, send your contribution to the Society by addressing them at your local post office. The drive ends April 13.

At 9 o'clock the meeting will be highlighted by a showing of Frank William's Reticulata slides.

Friday's activities begin at 10 a. m., when delegates will leave the Cavalier Hotel for a visit to Norfolk's municipal camellia collection. Luncheon will be served from 1 to 2:30 in the Azalea Room of the Norfolk Municipal Airport, and the agenda provides for a visit to Sun Breere Farm, home of the Mison Hill, on the Lynnhaven River, from 2 until 5 p. m., returning to the Cavalier at 6 o'clock.

The annual forum will be held in the Panorama Room of the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club at eight o'clock. Speakers will be R. Sawada, on "My Wishes for 1952," and Maj. P. W. Barber, of Exbury Estate, Great Britain, on "Camellias and Other Broad Leafed Shrubs of England," with illustrations.

Saturday the society members will leave the Cavalier at ten o'clock for a tour of the Norfolk Naval Base from 11 o'clock until noon. Luncheon will be served at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club from 12:30 until 2 p. m., and there will be tours of the various camellia gardens from that hour until three o'clock. From 3 to 5 p. m., the guests will attend the Norfolk Camellia Show and Pageant in the Municipal Auditorium.

A cocktail hour will be held at the Cavalier at 7 p. m., to be followed by the annual banquet of the society at 8 o'clock.

The introduction of guests of honor will take place at 9 o'clock, and a half-hour talk, "A Flowerless Land," will be given by Thomas R. Henry, of Washington. The dinner will conclude the annual meeting.

Gill Company Celebrating 50 Years of Service

The year 1952 marks the 50th milestone in a distinguished coffee roasting career for the enterprising firm of James G. Gill Coffee Company, of Norfolk.

Under the management of Joseph G. Fiveash and his associates, the company is now emphasizing the most aggressive advertising and merchandising campaign of its long and eventful history.

Originally founded by James G. Gill in 1902 in a small building on Water Street in Norfolk, the business developed rapidly from the very beginning, due to the popularity of the products offered. Soon it was necessary to obtain larger quarters and a five-story building was purchased about 1907. These quarters, on Roanoke Avenue in Norfolk, soon became inadequate and additional space had to be rented in an adjoining building.

Upon the death of the first president, James G. Gill, in 1912, D. Frank Gill, his son, was elected to fill the office. He remained as active head of the corporation until his death in July, 1937. He was succeeded by Joseph G. Fiveash, the present head of the organization. James Gill Brockbrough, grandson of the founder, is vice-president. Other officers serving with President Fiveash are Ernest R. Ball, vice-president; John R. Ball, vice-president; Mrs. D. Frank Gill, vice-president; and James J. Cannon, secretary-treasurer.

Why worry about what the weather may do to floors, rugs, draperies and furnishings when windows and doors are left open? Zephyr Awnings give dependable protection. And yet Zephyrs admit light and ventilation as wanted.
Zephyrs alone have this patented ventilating feature, which permits the entire roof of your awning to breathe. Zephyr is not just an awning with a few side vents of questionable value where trapped air might be released. In Zephyr, the entire top of your awning breathes and permits free circulation of air.

King and Queen Being Chosen by Revere Club

Chesapeake Beach is to have another "Queen" and this time the "Queen" will have her "King".

Thirteen members of the Paul Revere Junior American Citizens Club have volunteered to compete for the titles of king and queen of the Chesapeake Beach Community Center playground, a project of the Junior Volunteer Fire Department and the Junior American Citizens Clubs. Selection will be by popular vote, a penny a vote, and proceeds from the contest will be donated to the Community Center.

On May 3, with all youth groups of the community participating in the ceremony, Mrs. R. W. Spruill, president of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach, is general chairman for the event. Mrs. E. I. Dillon, citizenship chairman, will have charge of the program for the day, and Mrs. C. G. Faison, youth conservation chairman, will organize and marshal a youth parade.

Coronation of the king and queen will highlight the dedication. Other contestants will comprise the coronation court.

'Covered' Supper Set For Tonight

The third in a series of "covered" suppers will be held in the parish house of St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic Church tonight at six o'clock. It has been announced by the Rev. Nicholas Habets, pastor.

These suppers have proven very popular and the funds raised in this way are designated for the church's building fund.

Busy hands and idle mouth are signs of accomplishment.

District Clubs To Gather For One-Day Meet

Motel Nearing Last Stage In Construction

Virginia Beach's newest ultra-modern motel, "The Golf Ranch," on Laskin Road, is nearing completion and is expected to be ready for occupancy on May 1.

The new-type construction of the four-story facility will represent an investment of between $125,000 and $150,000 when completed. The project is being built by Links, Inc., of which John B. Smith and George R. Guy, Virginia Beach residents, are the principal stockholders.

Consisting of 20 units, the new motel will be of the latest design. Five units will be of the studio apartment variety, with fifteen rooms making up the other units. The resident manager will occupy one of the units.

Ranch-type construction is being utilized in "Golf Ranch," with new type off-set block, which gives the appearance of clapboard when finished, being used for the exterior.

The new motel will be painted a chocolate brown with white trim and the roof will be white, a popular Florida color combination.

The entrance will be in old brick (Continued on Page 5, This Section)

Social Workers Needed by PA Welfare Board

State merit system examinations for social worker positions in the Princess Anne Department of Public Welfare have been set for Saturday, April 26, Mrs. Roseline Simpson, superintendent, has announced.

One position will open on May 1 in the Princess Anne department for social workers A or B. Mrs. Simpson said social worker A positions in the county have a salary range from $165 to $185 per month. Four years of college training is the only educational requirement, with no experience necessary. Social worker B positions require four years of college training and one-half year (fifteen semester hours) of graduate training in an accredited school of social welfare or one year of successful experience in social case work.

The salary range is from $175 to $270 a month.

An automobile is required for this position, Mrs. Simpson said. Applications for this position may be secured from the Department of Public Welfare, the State Merit System office in Richmond, or local Unemployment Compensation Commission offices. Qualified applicants will be notified of the place and exact time of the examination.

It is possible to acquire a round sum in a square deal.

Little Theatre Changes Dates Of Coming Play

"Cradle Snatchers," originally to have been presented by the Virginia Beach Little Theatre on April 9 and 10, will be seen April 16 and 17 instead. The change was made due to the original dates falling during Holy Week.

Mrs. Arthur Masury, the director of the local little theatre group, expressed the opinion that the extra week of rehearsal due to the change would give the cast time for exceptional polishing, and inasmuch as "Cradle Snatchers" has the largest cast of any play of this season's schedule, the additional week of rehearsal would be of benefit to the production.

Rehearsals are well under way and the seven male roles have been cast as follows: Charles Smith plays Harry Winton, Jim Filson plays George Martin, Ray Penner takes the role of Roy Ladd, Ray Spurnberg as Howard Drake, Bill Lochard as Oscar Nordholm, Frank Israel as Paul, and Dick Munford as Jose Valjejo. In the feminine parts are Pauline Melis as Susan Martin, Elizabeth Sills as Ethel Drake, Dorothy Brownley as Kitty Ladd, Peggy Penner as Anne Hall, Jean Gould as the maid in the play. The three teen-agers are being played by Bernice Johnson, Irene Hurdley and Nancy Hurley.

It is possible to acquire a round sum in a square deal.

DEVELOPMENTS OF QUARTER CENTURY AGO WERE RESPONSIBLE IN MANY WAYS FOR RESORT GROWTH

The year 1927 was filled with many developments in the continuing growth of Virginia Beach, some major and some minor, but nevertheless twenty-five years ago saw changes come about that helped send Virginia Beach on its way to becoming the big, prosperous resort it is today.

For example, the seawall and concrete boardwalk were built in the 1920's.

The seawall-boardwalk and the Cavalier Hotel were, of course, major developments in the advancement of the then Town of Virginia Beach.

Construction of the Cavalier Hotel was begun as a community project to foster the growth of Virginia Beach and at the time of its construction had some 1,800 stockholders. Many of the original developers of the hotel were transportation companies. Construction began in 1926 and the hotel was opened to the public in 1927.

The hotel contains 200 rooms in the main building, and the lodge, a later addition, contains some 40 rooms. The Inn, opened in 1951, has another 200 rooms.

One of the hotel's principal attractions is its sunken garden, which is said to contain at least one of every flower native to Tidewater Virginia. The Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club and the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club are later additions to the Cavalier properties.

The boardwalk-seawall was conceived and a bond issue floated to finance the project. Work was begun in 1926 and continued into 1927. Many obstacles were met and overcome during its construction to give Virginia Beach one of its greatest assets. The original cost of the project was approximately $250,000 and today the attraction is estimated to be worth more than $1,000,000.

With the assistance of several Norfolk Realtors, the Virginia Beach Rotary Club was established in April of 1927. The first meeting of the club was held in the Cavalier Hotel with 18 charter members present.

First president of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club was Robert B. Taylor, who is presently an executive and partner in the Fuel, Feed and Building Supplies firm, Fry M. Thomas, who was then manager of the Cavalier Hotel, served as vice-president. Thomas is now manager of the Book-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit, Mich.

During this same era the first newspaper at Virginia Beach was born. It was known as the Virginia Beach Weekly, and later became The News. The paper was started by Amos J. Ackiss, who served as editor, and Paul W. Ackiss, his nephew, served as circulation manager. J. B. Tallaferro, Ackiss' in-law, joined the staff during the paper's early days.

It is evident that 25 years ago many movements were started and completed that meant a great deal to a fine community, which now in 1952 has reached the status of a city and continues to grow and prosper.

KEMPSVILLE SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

National 4-H Club Week Observed By Kempsville Senior Club Members

A visitor at Kempsville High School last week took one dazed look and remarked that a 4-H convention must be taking place in the building. His surprise was understandable, for everywhere he looked he saw the familiar four-leaf 4-H clover symbol. Club members painted many picturesque posters and mounted them in the halls of the school. Each of these posters proudly bore a slogan, motto, or goal of the 4-H club. There were also three large colorful bulletin boards displaying club project record books, pictures of 4-H activities and other 4-H information. All pupils and faculty members of Kempsville school were well aware that it was National 4-H Club Week.

As a fitting climax to Princess Anne County's observance of National 4-H Club Week, Congressman Porter Hardy, Jr., flew down from Washington, D. C., to address 4-H Club members, their friends and families in the auditorium of Kempsville High School Sunday night. A former resident of Princess Anne County himself, Congressman Hardy said that he wished he could have been a member of the 4-H Club when he was a boy. Among other important messages, he pointed out the importance of the 4-H Club motto as he told club members that "young heads for clearer thinking, young hearts for greater loyalty, young hands for larger service, and the health of youth for greater living" would "enable you to take over as older hands give way," thereby following his slogan, "Keep America strong to keep America great."

Also on the program at the 4-H citizenship meeting were two prominent Kempsville Senior members, Shirley Humphries, president of the Kempsville club and County Council president, who presided over the meeting and introduced Congressman Hardy, and read an interesting selection, "What No 4-H Clubs?", and Alma Rea, also a member of the Kempsville Senior club and one of its former presidents, who gave an excellent presentation of "A Leader's Dream."

The members of the class are very proud to state that the Creeds play, which featured four students, was rated "superior." This was a great tribute to the members of the cast, and to the Dramatics Class teacher, Miss Virginia Bailey.

Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre To Open For 1952 Season on March 27

Allen Sobie, manager of the Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre, located on Tuckin Road, announced yesterday that the theatre will open the 1952 season on Thursday, March 27.

Mr. Sobie recently completed a study of the drive-in theatres in the Florida resort areas, and declared that drive-in operators there said that one fact stood out: Resort audiences are the most discriminating audiences to be found anywhere. They demand the best product and entertainment, and will accept nothing less.

"This standard," said Mr. Sobie, "is one we intend to meet in our operations. To this end we have completed arrangements with all the major film producers for their top product for the coming season."

"We are very eager to reopen the drive-in theatre and meet old friends and patrons—it's like coming home again."

Drive-in entertainment, Mr. Sobie said, is designed for the whole family and there in that family group are to be found the happiest and kindest of people.

Extensive improvements in the drive-in facility are now in progress, the manager said, and will continue over the next several months.

"We boast," said Mr. Sobie, "and

Kempsville PT-1 Hears Talk On Proposed School

J. W. Littleton, principal of the Kempsville High School, gave the members of the Kempsville Parent-Teacher Association an extensive report of the School Planning Committee at their recent meeting held in the school auditorium. He expressed a hope that all's hands would be behind the movement to build a consolidated high school plant at Thalia, as has been proposed.

Mr. Littleton also called attention to the housing shortage, insofar as teachers' quarters are concerned, and asked that members look around and report adequate quarters for the new teachers who will be coming to with justified confidence, that the Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre has the best sound system, the best screen and the best picture on the mid-Atlantic coast. We are now bending every effort to add every luxury and refinement for the greater enjoyment of our patrons."

Corn Fertilizer Test Underway

Can corn feeding be checked by fertilization? That's the question being asked by researchers at the Agricultural Experiment Station, V.P.I.

They explain that in recent years when there has been much rain during the latter part of the corn growing season, there has been widespread trouble with lodging.

To combat the problem, George Jones, superintendent of the Orange branch, has been using high levels of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, in an attempt to produce firmness in lodging. Jones plans to conduct his experiment again in 1952.

Allen Allison, assistant agronomist at the Holland branch, also is planning a similar test this year.

In general, corn lodging and breaking is worse in Eastern Virginia than in the Piedmont or Mountain regions.

the district next year.

The report of the nominating committee disclosed the following slate of proposed officers, to be elected at the April meeting:

Mrs. R. E. Humphries, president; Mrs. R. E. Dorner, first vice-president; Mrs. D. L. Byler, second vice-president; Mrs. Edwin Charles, secretary; and Mrs. Eugene Lettenette, treasurer.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. W. W. Johnson, president, and Mrs. R. W. Mears, program chairman, was in charge of the program. Girl Scout and Brownie troops in the area conducted the divisional under the direction of Mrs. R. J. Snowden and Mrs. James Cartmell.

During the short business session reports were heard from Mrs. W. C. Parker, treasurer, and Mrs. J. Allen, for the luncheon.

Mrs. Lyndon Clark gave a short talk on Girl Scouts and Scouting and asked that all adults interested in helping with the work contact Mrs. Snowden or Mrs. Cartmell. Stiles of Girl Scout life in camp were shown by Miss Jean Latham, Girl Scout executive for the district.

Home room homes were by Mrs. Roane's room for the elementary department and to Mrs. Haddock's room for the high school.

Additional Entries Seen In City Race

FIVE NOW ENTERED IN BID FOR TWO SEATS

Five Virginia Beach men have entered the race for two seats on the city council subject to the June 10 election, and indications are that they may be joined by others seeking a place on the five-man governing body.

The five announced candidates are John W. McComb, hotelman; Frank A. Dunch, reserve naval officer; William C. Everett, automobile dealer; John H. Bell, businessman; and Richard G. Brydges, attorney.

In their initial announcements Dunch stated that he was entering the race with the backing of the incumbent political organization, and McComb expressed the hope that he would have the support of the organization.

Bell and Brydges, who made their announcement jointly, stated that they were running as independents and were not against any group, but that they "would welcome the support of the anti-organization" forces. Everett, the fifth candidate, said that he was entering as an independent and as a businessman, "seeking the support of the business people." At the time of his announcement he indicated that he would have a running mate.

Bell, Brydges and Everett are rumored to lean toward the anti-organization faction and it is assumed by some political observers that their announcement precludes Councilman R. L. Simpson's seeking reelection.

Simpson, along with Vice Mayor H. E. Halstead and Councilman R. G. Barr, Jr., will announce their present terms in September.

Well over a week remains before the final date for filing for the offices on Council.

BEATING THE INCOME TAX

We aren't sure about the income tax laws in South America, but it looks like the former Francisco Salas has found a way to beat them, if they are like ours. Here you see Francisco with his (count 'em) of his twelve wives. Guess the other two were taking care of the smaller "family."

Sidney Kellam To Represent Virginia On Northern Tour

Sidney Kellam, chairman of the State Commission on Conservation and Development, will represent the State of Virginia on a trip being undertaken by the Virginia Travel Council group which is endeavoring to, as they have expressed it, "crack the New England tourist market."

Others making the tour include Theodore Graves of Luray; Dr. M. L. Combs, president of Mary Washington College, who will represent Northern Virginia, and Council President George Summers, of Bristol, who will represent the Southwest.

The group will form in Boston on April 7, where the New England Council will sponsor the meeting, leaving next day to Providence, R. I., under the auspices of the Rhode Island AAA, then to Worcester, Massachusetts, "winding up" April 30 at Hartford. It was originally planned to visit New Haven April 11, but this stop was cancelled due to that Friday being Good Friday.

RED CROSS ASKS EXTRA FUNDS

In a result of the devastating winds which swept through the Southern States a week ago, the American Red Cross has requested an additional $500 of the local Red Cross chapter, Harold H. Kellam, chapter chairman, announced yesterday.

The current Red Cross drive originally was assigned a quota of $15,000, and the additional request has raised the figure to $15,500. Indications are that the drive may be extended due to the urgent need for additional funds.

Senator Etheridge Addresses Jaycees

Members of the Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting Tuesday night heard State Senator V. Alfred Etheridge explain the interworkings of the Virginia General Assembly and the procedure for introduction of bills in that law-making body.

Etheridge discussed several bills considered and passed by the General Assembly in the session just completed. He told of the method of introducing bills and the important work of the committees which first receive the bills.

After his talk, Etheridge opened the meeting for questions and answers. The Senator answered all questions put to him and indicated that he had been a keen student of policies and procedures in his freshman term as senator from this area.

Within the space of two days two persons were killed during the past week on the Virginia Beach Boulevard.

Death came to a Virginia Beach resident, Martin Schechter, 45, and a sailor, Thomas Joel Olson, 19, in traffic accidents occurring last Friday and Saturday nights.

Schechter was killed in a three-car collision three miles east of Norfolk, in Princess Anne County. He resided in the Mayflower Apartments and conducted his business in Norfolk. He was a native of New York state.

Olson's death came in a collision Saturday night. He died of a fractured skull.

Board Seeks Use of Army Water Main

ASKS TRANSFER OF TITLE THROUGH TOKEN SALE

In an effort to relieve the inadequate water supply in North Virginia Beach, the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors will seek to arrange a conference with Army engineers and government officials in Washington at an early date with a view of using the existing Army water main in that area.

The Board adopted a resolution Monday asking that the clerk of the court certify Senators Harry Flood Byrd and A. Willis Robertson and Representative Porter Hardy, Jr., and have them arrange a conference with Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, USA, Chief of Engineers, to discuss the possibility of taking over the water mains.

A copy of the resolution, which "demands that the Army relinquish title to these two mains to the City of Norfolk by token sale," is being forwarded to the Norfolk City Council.

The resolution points out that Fort Story has been de-emphasized as a military post and that a large number of military personnel have entered the county during the present emergency. It also points out that the mains would greatly relieve conditions if Virginia Beach would be allowed to tap into the Fort Story mains.

This same request was made by the City of Virginia Beach a year ago but was refused. Some observers felt that the present request will also receive unfavorable action since it is pointed out, the Army cannot be sure of what future needs might be asked of it and its Fort Story facility.

The county Board has estimated that it would require a $200,000 outlay to parallel the present water mains which are not fully utilized by the Army.

Ground Observer Exercises for Civil Defense Saturday

A ground observer exercise will be conducted Saturday morning in conjunction with civil defense plans. It has been announced by Reeves E. Johnson, supervisor of civilian defense for Virginia Beach.

The exercise will last from 9 in the morning until 12 o'clock, noon, and is planned to offer an excellent opportunity for observers to become better trained.

Volunteers are needed for this work and anyone interested should present themselves at the Virginia Beach police station prior to nine o'clock Saturday morning, March 29.

20 Men Trained For Rescue Squad

Twenty members of the Princess Anne County Rescue Squad have completed the standard first aid course of the American Red Cross, it has been announced by J. Peter Holland, III, captain of the recently organized group.

The course, which includes four hours of civil defense supplemental training, was completed on Tuesday night.

The group will now begin a 12-hour advanced course and should be qualified to operate as a unit by April 10.

Holland announced that the squad is still interested in new members and advised that those interested should call 833-3 or 1384-W for complete information.

PHONES FIXED

Substantially all telephone service at Virginia Beach disrupted by the heavy rain Sunday night and Monday was restored to full service as of 8 o'clock on Wednesday night, it was reported by Osbourne O. Ashworth, Jr. manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

ON COMMITTEE

Kellam was formerly chairman of the Second District Committee, but his residence changed from that district under the new redistricting setup.

Warner Hotel Improving Site For Recreation

The Warner Hotel has acquired ocean-front property at the corner of 34th Street and has begun improvements which will afford guests of the hotel additional recreation facilities, according to Jack Golden, owner-operator of the hotel.

The property purchased by the hotel consists of the corner lot at 34th Street measuring 100 by 150 feet. Frank V. Atkinson and H. Garrett Smith, local realtors, were the sellers in the transaction. Atkinson and Smith recently purchased the entire block between 33rd and 34th Streets.

Included in the unsold portion of the block is a building 63 by 130 feet which at one time was leased by Colonial Stores, Inc., and used as a supermarket by that firm.

Atkinson and Smith purchased the property from the Art Holding Company, of which Art and Charlie Lewis are the principal stockholders.

Heavy Rains Put Telephones 'Out'

Heavy rains which fell Sunday and Monday were contributing causes for putting approximately 20 per cent of the telephone service out of order in Virginia Beach, according to Osbourne O. Ashworth, Jr., manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here.

Line crews from Norfolk were recruited to help clear the waterlogged underground wires. Subscribers in the area north of 24th Street were affected by the interruption if service.

Contracts for Beach Erosion Work Will Be Let April 18, Says Church

CHAIRMAN SAYS WORK TO BEGIN IN EARLY MAY

Actual work in restoring sand to Virginia Beach's eroded waterfront should begin early in May, according to stepped-up plans made by the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission Wednesday.

E. H. Church, chairman of the commission, in releasing a tentative schedule of the work ahead, indicated that he had "been optimistic in setting the date for actual operations to begin on June 1, but developments have been so rapid in recent days that I can foresee an earlier date for the work to commence."

Church indicated that samples of borings in the Rudee Inlet area were completed Wednesday and that preliminary borings in the Linkhorn area would be completed today.

Plans call for preparation of samples over the weekend and a tentative conference with government officials in Washington is scheduled for Monday, March 31.

Further plans are that bidders will be notified on April 1 and plans and specifications will be available and mailed on April 8. One week will be allowed for bidding.

Sealed bids received will be opened on April 15, and the actual contract will be let on April 18, the commission chairman said.

Earlier in the week the commission was encouraged when it acquired seven parcels of land containing 20.82 acres in the Rudee Inlet area from the Highlands, Inc., of which G. Scott Hathaway is president.

The property acquired lies in high Lake Rudee and Lake Wesley areas. Some is marsh land, late bottom and high ground.

'Beach Follies of 1952' Proves Full Fare of Fun; Last Showing Tonight

By Edith Malcolm

There are follies and follies, but those who spent their money to see "The Beach Follies of 1952" were guilty of committing no folly—they got full measure of fun, frivolity, fastidious fashion and finery.

Pulchritude and a preponderance of persuasive patter, permeated with a pinch of "purple passion" with a punch permeated the palace of pleasure wherein the pleasing performers pranced and prated for their public.

Presented without pachyderms or pygmies, the performance pulsated with palpating perfection.

Or, to put it in much simpler and less alliterative language, the first performance of the Follies was a knock-out!

Directed by Lou Yetter, the cast—which included scores of well-known and talented folks from the resort area, played to a capacity house at the Beach Theatre. Those who missed seeing it should hurry for tickets and try to get in to witness the final performance tonight. Curtain time is 8:15 o'clock.

C. T. Whitehead, chairman of the County Democratic Committee, announced that he will accept nominations of prospective delegates at 11 p. m., March 29. The meeting is set for eight o'clock on Monday evening.

Delegates will be chosen to represent the five magisterial districts of the county, and based on the number of votes cast in the last general election, the county is entitled to 12 delegates.

Whitehead said that applications (Continued on Page Two)

The Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors at its meeting Monday unanimously agreed to petition the Circuit Court to call for a referendum vote on a $2,800,000 bond issue which would provide for the construction of a consolidated high school and the completion of the training school for Negroes at Esch.

The action was taken after the Board heard Frank W. Cox, Division Superintendent of the county's schools, cite the need for a consolidated high school, the site for which has been purchased. Cox pointed out that the county can no longer be classed as rural.

A school budget of $876,640 was also approved by the Board with a special meeting planned to devise a means of raising the money under the State's maximum levy of 33 per cent assessed valuation rate.

Cox told the Board that "it is becoming increasingly difficult to compete for teachers with other areas which have higher base salaries than we do." He said "the increase in pupils this year was more than 900, and we expect this to continue for several years."

The new budget calls for 23 additional teachers and additional instruction costs amounting to $117,000. Anticipated receipts for the schools are: From State funds, $391,720; from the County, $410,820; and other funds, $76,100. Last year's budget was $720,918 and, like the new budget, gave some 72 per cent for teacher salaries.

Other delegations appeared before the Board in its day-long session. C. E. Studds, Birdneck Point, requested aid in maintaining a road in that section known as Tangle Drive. Another group from the Bel-Air section asked the Board to refrain from issuing further commercial permits in their section on the grounds that it is purely a residential area.

A spokesman for the Bay Colony-Cavalier Park-North Linkhorn Park residents asked what action, if any, the Board had taken regarding the change in the building ordinance affecting that area. The Board deferred action on the matter until a report from the zoning board is received.

Postoffice Facilities to Be Expanded at Beach

The Post Office Department, taking cognizance of the expanded growth of Virginia Beach, has authorized the establishment of two sub-station post offices here, according to Howard S. Myers, local postmaster.

Authorizations for the sub-stations, one to be located in the vicinity of 17th Street and the other in the Mayflower Shopping Center, were contained in a letter from the Postmaster General's office this week.

In announcing the proposed sub-stations for Virginia Beach, Myers stated that "bushel proposals for the conduct of such construction post office stations would be received at his office until 10:30 a. m., Thursday, April 3, 1952."

Those submitting proposals must agree to furnish the following:

- 1—Sufficient space in the main room of a store, at a location convenient to the public, for the transaction of the postal business of a contract station.
- 2—The facilities of the station to consist of display counter, display, parcel post and the sale of all necessary postal supplies.
- 3—All equipment, including such signs as may be designated by the Postmaster, in safe, lock, light and all other service necessary for the conduct of such business.
- 4—Check in charge must have a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $5,000 for the faithful performance of the duties assigned.

District Rotarians Will Convene Here Next Month for Meeting

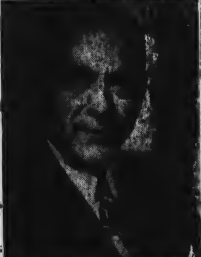

Members of the Virginia Beach, Norfolk and Portsmouth Rotary clubs will be hosts to Rotarians of the 277th District of Rotary International next month when the district's annual conference will be held at the Cavalier Hotel.

Dates for the conference as released by District Governor Frank W. Kellam, of Princess Anne, a member of the Virginia Beach club, are April 7-8. Registration will open at 9 o'clock on Monday morning, April 7.

This will mark the second conference to be held at Virginia Beach within the past three years. In 1949 Virginia Rotarians gathered at Virginia Beach. Last year the group met at Old Point Comfort with Hampton, Newport News and Warwick County Rotary clubs serving as co-hosts.

Eastern Shore Chapel In Process of Moving

The historic Eastern Shore Chapel is being dismantled and will be reconstructed on a 10-acre tract of land the ancient church has acquired on Laskin Road at the point it joins Virginia Beach Boulevard.

Dismantling work began Monday under the supervision of M. J. Farrer, Virginia Beach contractor. One of the most tedious jobs in the dismantling will be to preserve the beautiful windows of the 190-year-old church.

The walls of the church are scheduled to be taken down sometime next week and workmen have been instructed to be very careful in their work so that as many of the old brick as possible may be salvaged for use in the new edifice.

Please call for every detail to be carefully checked, so that the rebuilt place of worship will be a true and faithful counterpart of its original architecture and design. Phineas F. Ferguson, Jr., Norfolk architect, and a former member of the Colonial Williamsburg staff, has prepared detailed sketches of the old church and will help supervise the construction of the new one.

The new church will be the fourth to bear the name Eastern Shore Chapel—a name chosen because the first building was located on the eastern shore of the Lynnhaven River. The present building was used as a stable during the Civil War, and was built in March, 1754.

Dismantling of the colorful edifice is one of the final steps in the expansion of the Ocean Naval Air Station, the reason behind the moving of the historic little chapel.

It is said that hard work brings its own reward. When the Ocean Playhouse presented "Aggravations" at the District One, Group Two, one-act play festival, they proved this by being awarded the rating "Distinguished." The festival was held at their Junior High School in Norfolk.

Along with the honor of the rating goes the privilege of going to Charlottesville to present the play at the State Festival, which will be held next Friday and Saturday, April 4 and 5.

In the role of Stepan Stepanovich Tschubukoff is George Aldridge. Clavon McGrath portrays Natalia Stepanovna, Tschubukoff's unmarried daughter. ## Ocean View To Vote On Water Bonds April 22

Voters in the East Ocean View Sanitary District of Princess Anne County will go to the polls on Tuesday, April 22, to express their will on the issuance of $75,000.00 in bonds for the extension of water mains and the installation of fire plugs in that district.

Judge Floyd Kellam, of the Princess Anne County Circuit Court, has issued the order providing for the water bond election, as petitioned by the County Board of Supervisors by unanimous vote at their meeting of January 28.

The action was taken by the Board following the appearance of 23 delinquent voters from the affected area asking for such water main extension and installation of the fire plugs.

In its petition to Judge Kellam, the Supervisors pointed out that the indebtedness of the East Ocean View Sanitary District was nothing except its payments to the School District and other current taxation, and all this less than 5% of its assessed value of real property which amounts to $761,615.00.

Cost of the construction will be approximately $65,000, with attorney

Management Is An Important Grazing Factor

Good management will be an important factor in getting top benefits from pastures which were drought-stricken last year and "ground into the ground," says W. W. Lewis, Extension agronomist at V.P.I.

Because of close grazing last fall, many ladino clover and grass plants are feeble, architectural form and vigor showing some fading about $5,000. Notice of the situation has been posted at the East Ocean View voting precinct.

set in a weakened condition. In places where the clover needs to be restored, keep the grasses grazed so they won't crowd the clover, thus discouraging the growth of runners and increase in the clover crop.

Where clover seedling is needed, disk the soil and slightly re-seed and use a cult-packer to get the seed just in the top of the ground. After re-seeding, keep the pasture grazed fairly close to give the new ladino seedlings an opportunity to grow. If the pasture grows too high, the young seedlings will be smothered out.

When top-dressing to encourage clover growth, use a fertilizer with potash and phosphate, such as 6-14-14. In some sections of the state, there is the problem of the grass thinning out. If this happens, let the pasture grow up to 12 to 15 inches before grazing, or let the grass reach the stage for hay or silage and then cut it.

Use of a complete fertilizer for top-dressing, such as a 5-10-10, will encourage grass growth.

Where the grass stand is very thin, and re-seeding is necessary, disk to prepare a fairly good seedbed. Seeding should be done immediately after disk, followed by cult-packing. This will help prevent clover runners from dying out.

Some of our politicians are so crooked that even the wool they pull over people's eyes is half cotton.

Lt. Wm. Flynn Back From Mediterranean

Recently returned to the United States after a tour of duty with Fighter Squadron 174 in the Mediterranean, is Lt. (jg) William M. Flynn, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Flynn, of 501 22nd Street, Virginia Beach, and husband of Mrs. Betty J. Flynn, of 204 27th Street, also of the resort.

Before entering the Naval service, Flynn attended V.P.I., Blacksburg. The squadron, attached to the N. S. Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla., while serving aboard one of the largest aircraft carriers, the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt, visited many of the ports along the Mediterranean, such as Capri, Sicily and Naples, Italy.

TRY AND CONVINCE ME! That's the slogan of today's hard-core skeptic who has been fooled many times that now he is only "effect" that are in vogue.

He is afraid to use his own judgment. And he is the most deluded creature since Eve told Adam that an apple a day would keep the doctor away. He's a sucker for the "big lie" because his skepticism is of the popular, Jewish variety that withholds truth but admits any half-baked idea loose.

Proof of this is found in experiments by Dr. Solomon Asch at Swarthmore with several hundred students which reveal how a smart operator may discredit truth and convince you that black is white.

One popular sophisticated writer will dismiss the proof's findings as cloud gathering and ask why they don't teach our kids at college something useful.

In the experiments, Asch correctly arranged for seven out of eight students in the test groups to give the wrong answer to a question whether a given line was straight or crooked, one-third of the way the students "right student" — the dupes would agree, even when a little dissent would have shown the other seven wrong. Tested alone, the dupes could figure out the right answer, some few showed as dupes used their own judgment and gave the right answer, but usually the popular answer was OK with them.

This must have been pretty embarrassing to the student dupes. But most of us graduate dupes are secure in our pet illusions unless we begin some independent thinking. We don't have to submit to any experiments by some hazy college professor. We can remain ignorant of the possibility that some would-be dictator might try the same experiment and plant the "big lie" among us.

J. W. Rogers, of the Birdneck Point Civic League, requested a change in the building ordinance pertaining to Birdneck Point which would change the present ordinance to permit houses of not less than 1,200 square feet to be constructed in that area. The matter was referred to the zoning board.

Mrs. A. E. Ewell, representing thirteen civic groups, asked the aid of the Board in keeping roadsides in the county clean. The Board referred the matter to the State Highway Department, under whose jurisdiction the matter falls.

EVEN IN HOMES where laundry is done regularly, there are always some small items which get individual attention in the wash bowl. These may be very fragile articles of clothing, or those which wash muddering between the regular "wash days."

Wash bowl laundry can be successful only if you give the clothing proper cleaning and attention not just the soap or detergent and water treatment.

With hard water, use a softener or a conditioner, as dirt always comes out more readily in soft water. Add these before soap or detergent so you'll get proper results. Clothing dried indoors and quickly will yellow much faster than

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Mashed Potatoes: 4-6 (Serves 4-6)

1 package instant dehydrated gelatin
1 cup cubed, canned pineapple
1 cup broken walnut meats
1/2 cup milk, set in place
Lettuce

Melt 1 cup gelatin in 1 cup water over gelatin. Stir until completely dissolved. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with lettuce, with mayonnaise thinned with pineapple juice.

these dried out in air and sunshine. For this reason it's advisable to use a bluing, even if night, as it will counteract yellowing.

Blanch should be added to the white clothes when washing so they do not turn gray. Always use the amount directed on the package or bottle, as too much may prove too strong and thus cause the clothes to fall apart.

Quick driers are valuable, too, in making the clothes crisp. Use a bottled type which is always ready or an instant type which just needs stirring into the water.

Rinsing is as important as washing, whether it's done as part of the big laundry or in a wash basin. Two or three rinses are essential, and the water should be the same temperature as that used for actual washing.

If you have troubles to burn, be original—make light of them.

ROOTKNOT CONTINUED
Chemical control of rootknot in the home garden is being recommended as an alternate to the often impractical rotation. Two materials are effective in controlling rootknot nematodes — Doflume W-40 and DD. The fumigants are bought in liquid form and applied to the soil as liquids where they form a gas and spread, killing the nematodes.
The chemicals should not be used closer than two feet to growing plants, and if spilled on hands or clothing, it should be washed immediately by washing in soap water, or by brushing the skin from the skin.
Do not plant in treated soil ten days' have passed.

NEW UNDER THE SUN

Princess Anne County's Board of Supervisors have come up with something new in the operation of government. When they appointed State Senator V. Alfred Etheridge as Executive Secretary to the Board they created a post that was definitely needed, but the unusual aspect of the appointment is the fact that the secretary will serve without cost to the taxpayer. That, today, is unheard of in an era of expanding costs of government, whether it be federal, state, county or city.

In outlining the duties of the executive secretary the Board pointed out that the job of building inspector would be a prime function of the office. As building inspector, the secretary will issue building permits and collect permit fees. The salary of the office will be paid out of the building fees collected. Hence, there will be no expense to the general fund for the salary of the executive secretary.

Additional duties have been assigned the secretary, one of which is the administration of the county's social security program for its employees. The Board has stated that it may from time to time assign the secretary to matters of investigation for the Board's information and guidance.

The post was created in accordance with a special law passed by the General Assembly this year, but the means of paying the salary was the resourceful work of the Board of Supervisors. We believe the members of the Board have done a good job.

MORE POWER!

Appearing in this week's edition of the Sun-News is a little item with a small headline. Unfortunately, in this weary world, not all items of major importance to the lives of the community make the headlines. This is, perhaps, a commentary on the times in which we live. But we digress. What we wish to say is that the item records the fact that a delegation representing the Princess Anne County of Garden Clubs will tomorrow visit Richmond, there to present petitions to the head of the State Department of Highways, asking that the strip of land, recently occupied by the rails of the Norfolk-Southern Railroad, paralleling North Atlantic Avenue from the Cavalier Hotel to Fort Story, be improved and beautified.

More power to the ladies! May every success greet their efforts.

The world—and, sorry to state, this includes Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County—has too much ugliness, of scene, of thought, of deed. It may be that the scene begets both thought and deed. Environment is a potent and powerful factor in the lives of groups and individuals.

So let us have kemptness and beauty for beauty's sake alone—and for the light and lift it gives to all who see.

More power!

THOSE EASTER SEALS

The Scriptures, we believe, carry the admonition, "Be not weary of well-doing." This is one season of the year when we can all take that personally to heart.

For we in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, as well as the whole State of Virginia, are in the midst of two most worthy campaigns for funds to carry on the work of "well-doing." One is the Red Cross membership drive, which ends March 31st. The other, and perhaps less well known, is the Easter Seal sale, which began about the middle of the month and will continue until Easter Sunday.

We imagine there is no adult who does not come in contact with the Red Cross or its work, or hear directly of such work in his work-a-day way of life. He knows of the relief and disaster work of the Red Cross, of its blood plasma program, of its first aid courses and—if he is in the armed forces—knows from direct contact just how much it means to our service personnel. And this is by no means a complete catalog of the "well-doing" of the Red Cross. As one writer aptly put it: "The Red Cross is your better self in action." That is literally true, for by your contributions you become a member (perhaps inactive beyond the act of giving) in this greatest of all-mercy organizations, whose scope and work are world-wide.

But you may ask, "Who and what about this Easter Seal business?" True, the sponsoring organization behind the sale of Easter Seals may not be as well known as the Red Cross, but its work is fully as important—both for the citizens of today, and the youngsters who will be citizens tomorrow... the youngsters who today face a life of misery and poverty due to the effects of crippling diseases, and other defects.

For the sponsoring agency, well-known to countless thousands, is the Virginia Society for Crippled Children and Adults, a part of the National Society. The society works to aid those afflicted with cerebral palsy, epilepsy, rheumatic fever, and defects in speech and hearing. They make an annual grant of $5,000 to the 16-bed convalescent ward at the Medical College of Virginia in cooperation with the Bureau of Crippled Children, State Department of Health. It provides many thousands of dollars for diagnostic and continuous treatment for patients in many counties of the state, and clinical services for patients in their homes. It provides $5,000 annually to the cerebral palsy center in Harrisonburg in cooperation with local groups, as well as a like amount for the joint facility for Tennessee and Virginia societies in Kingsport, Tennessee. Closer home, it provides $8,500 annually to diagnosis and treatment at the cerebral center in Norfolk in cooperation with interested groups in the Tidewater area.

The group provides $11,500 each year for an Anti-Convulsive Clinic in the Department of Neurology and Psychiatry of the University of Virginia Hospital, providing diagnosis, treatment and medical social services for large, active

HAPPIER FACING FEAR

Miss Willie Bryant, Geneva, Ala., had always been afraid, but here in the way she overcame her fears.

Her first fear was of being ignorant. Born on a little farm three miles from Geneva when times were hard, her family couldn't even take a newspaper. There were no school buses then, and she walked those three miles twice a day until she graduated from high school. Her books showed the great world outside her narrow life and she had a strong desire to learn more.

She grabbed the opportunity of attending a business school, walking three miles twice a day to learn shorthand and typing. Later, through a friend, she got a chance to attend Audson College, Nashville, Tenn., and pay her way by office work.

Early in the morning, she took dictation, had classes most of the day, followed by study, then went back to the office and typed letters until midnight. There was no time for college fun or good times. But she graduated! She had faced her fear of ignorance.

Later she faced a worse fear, that of being physically helpless from arthritis. It was agony to move, but the most terrible thing was she could not use her hands, could not work. Sometimes she could not even stand. She then went to the bottom of her courage, she wouldn't give up and go to bed. Sometimes when walking around the block, she fell to the pavement. But she got up and went on. She forced her stiff, swollen hands to do whatever she could, fighting the disease with needles, drugs—everything she heard about. Today she can work.

She says fear has come near to beating her many times, but she will never give up. She is happier facing it than succumbing to it.

ACROSS the DESK

The weekly newspaper editor, unlike his city brethren, has time to pause now and then and to make a few editorial comments on nature and the simple beauty of his home territory. This urge often becomes irresistible in spring. It is another reason why the weekly newspaper continues to hold its place in a world where speed is the first requirement of success.

As an example, the editor of The Chickasha Star, Chickasha, Okla., recently wrote an editorial entitled "Only Man is Vile." Here are a few excerpts from it:

"If you are tired of hearing Senator Kerr vilify the Republicans, weary of the Republicans hounding President Truman, want to forget that brides now shoot their husbands before breakfast, take a day off, get in your car, turn off the radio, and drive carefully from the Red River to the Kansas line, and you will see the most beautiful picture that nature ever painted anywhere, anytime, in any state.

"Down on the Red River the peach trees are in full bloom and the first blush of spring is on the red buds. On the Waurika hills the Herefords are beginning to find some green sprigs of grass...

THE Tipster

By Independent Editorial Services

(Compiled by an association of Washington reporters)

Washington—The Russell candidacy is worrying the White House not at all. The belief is held that the rich and expanding South is not going Republican.

Paris—France this summer will be the biggest tourist bargain of all time, with the U. S. dollar worth five times its current value in goods and services.

London—Not only did the Atlantic wing of the Socialist group make an eight students in the test groups to give the wrong answer to a question whether a given line was straight or crooked. One-third of the time the unconvinced eighth student—the dupe—would agree, even when a little discomfited would save the other seven wrong. Tested alone, the dupe could figure out the right answer. Some few chosen as dupes used their own judgement and gave the right answer, but usually the popular answer was okay with them.

This must have been pretty embarrassing to the student dupes. But most of us graduate dupes are secure in our pet illusions unless we begin some independent thinking. We don't have to submit to any experiments by some fuzzy college professor. We can remain ignorant of the possibility that some would-be dictator might try the same experiment and plant the "big lie" among us.

No one can convince us!

atomic bomb for retaliation against Russia, but they have several other military secrets that they are very carefully hoarding. England doesn't intend to be a push-over.

Paris—The Eisenhower strategists are now convinced that Taft can be easily routed. Thus the general will only fly to the U. S. at the convention's end, to accept the nomination.

Washington—The Chelf committee was slated to investigate the Justice Department, will look into the pressures put by influence peddling lawyers.

London—The British have forced Scandinavian pulp mills to reduce prices 20%, and the high profit boys in Norway, Sweden and Finland are sore. However, a bigger percentage of the output will now probably come to the U. S.

London—France will be bankrupt in June and Britain in September.

Washington—The small farm owner will have to have a liberal plan to acquire machinery, is the opinion expressed at the Agriculture Department. Food production is going down because of lack of farm hands and the farmer cannot afford machinery to do the work.

New York—The U. S. is due for a creeping recession, which may be aggravated by stock market dips. Taxes, cutbacks in government spending and the end of inflation will all contribute. This is the opinion of certain Wall Street houses, which have started to retrench and to advise their clients to invest carefully. Loans are getting very hard to get. The insurance companies and banks are very tight. If Europe finds times hard, it will reflect.

Heifer Calves Get Brucellosis Vaccine

OVER 100,000 TREATED
IN OLD DOMINION

Over 100,000 heifer calves have been vaccinated so far in a new effort to rid Virginia cattle of brucellosis the way Virginia citizens stamped out smallpox.

Both cattlemen and veterinarians have fired up the calfhood vaccination program until Dr. W. L. Bendix, State Veterinarian, is hard put to keep up.

In the first two months of 1952 alone, some 15,000 heifer calves got their shots, as many as were vaccinated in all of 1950, when the new program was launched.

The calfhood vaccination program is so far ahead of schedule that Dr. Bendix has had to call on the Governor for emergency funds this year and increase his appropriation requests for the next two.

The State Department of Agriculture decided to foot the vaccination bill temporarily when Dr. Bendix began three years ago to raise a brucellosis resistant generation of cattle instead of slaughtering infected mature animals.

Last year, the program cost about $90,000. The department provided the vaccine and paid private veterinarians a flat fee for each vaccination.

At the peak of the old slaughter program in 1936 and 1937, the state was paying about $150,000 a year in partial indemnities to farmers for the slaughter of their infected animals.

Despite that sort of outlay, the disease is costing cattlemen around $4,000,000 a year in aborted calves and production losses, and prior to this new program, the healthiest of cattle were wide open to infection. There is no known cure.

The new scheme is to immunize heifer calves so that they will not catch the disease from bulls on from the discharges of infected cows.

Accompanying the vaccination are four graduated plans which cattlemen can select for the elimination of older, infected animals.

All the plans provide for an agreement by the farmer that he will have his herd tested periodically. If infected animals are found, they will be tagged and branded under state supervision.

The plans stipulate that tagged and branded reactors will be transported and sold only for slaughter. The farmer can choose a plan which will let him keep reactors until he can raise calf replacements, or one which requires immediate slaughter of reactors.

Besides saving cattlemen the biggest part of the cost of brucellosis, Dr. Bendix expects the new program to save the state big money on eradication costs.

Beginning July 1, the state will start backing out of vaccination financing, putting up three-fourths of the cost and letting farmers pay the other fourth.

A year later, farmers will be expected to take up half the cost. The general idea after that will be for

Demonstrators Find Going Rough In Wichita Tourney

The Tidewater Demonstors, of Virginia Beach, the Virginia AAU basketball champions, found rough going in the national tournament at Wichita, Kan., this week as they bowed out in the first round of the tourney. The Demonstors were also beaten in the consolation competition.

The Virginia girls were victims of the smooth functioning Magnolia Whips, of Jackson, Miss., in the initial round, losing 64-26. In the consolation contest they were beaten by the Atlanta, Ga., Tomboys, 46-24.

A decision to enter the national tournament by the Demonstors squad was made late last week, and last of preparation and rest after winning the state title in Richmond left the team state, which probably accounted, in some measure, for their showing in the Kansas meet.

A senior at Averett, Miss Price is active in campus organizations as vice-president of the Student Council and a member of the Dramatic Club.

Featuring an all-woman cast, the production is a mystery play which revolves around the murder of two college sorority sisters. The action takes place in the clubhouse in the Sierra Nevada mountains.

Auroomycin Costs Down Say Makers

One of the antibiotic "wonder drugs," which is used widely for many human and animal diseases, is becoming less expensive for the patient. Since discovery of auroomycin in 1949, there have been several direct price reductions.

Now the Lederle Laboratories, of Pearl River, N. Y., report that they are marketing the drug under a new low-dosage recommendation which is about half that for similar wide-range antibiotics.

The new recommendation calls for only four 250 mg. auroomycin capsules per day for an adult, as compared with the old recommendation of eight to ten per day, for serious bacterial infections.

"Two years ago," says a Lederle official, "our scientists, realizing that lower dosages of the drug would be effective, set in motion an extensive research program in our laboratories and in hospitals throughout the country, to gain evidence. Meanwhile, independent reports from all over the world proved conclusively that a lower dosage is in order, a fact which has been recognized and approved by responsible authorities."

Auroomycin, which must be prescribed by a doctor, is indicated in the treatment of over 60 diseases besetting man, including "strep" throat, boils and carbuncles, "virus" pneumonia, tonsillitis, and a number of skin infections.

PLAN DANCE

1952 Proving Big Year For Measles In State

"More than 4000 cases of measles have been reported to the State Health Department this year," Dr. Mack I. Shanholtz, State Health Commissioner, said this week. From now on until late Spring, many more cases of measles are expected in the state. 1952 is proving to be a year of high incidence in measles, said Dr. Shanholtz, and we may expect a high wave of measles like this every two or three years.

"The early symptoms of measles are similar to those of the common cold," he stated. "These symptoms increase in severity from two to four days and the cold becomes bronchial in nature. A dull red blotchy rash then appears about the face and neck and spreads to the entire body within a three-day period. At this time the various signs and symptoms rapidly disappear, although the skin more slowly resumes normal appearance."

"Most children recover from the measles without any ill effect, but it may be serious for very young or delicate children. Children under five—and especially those under three—are most seriously affected by measles. Since the disease in older children is often mild, many parents believe that measles in younger children does not merit special attention. This is far from true."

"If the date of exposure to a case of measles is known, development of the disease may be prevented in young or sick children or the disease may be modified by the injection of a small amount of gamma globulin. These injections must be made soon after exposure and in the proper dosage. This gives only temporary protection, but many lives can be saved by postponing the attack of measles in weak or young children," Dr. Shanholtz stated.

"Most deaths from measles occur in youngsters under three years old," he said. "The disease often increases their susceptibility to other infections such as pneumonia, tuberculosis, diphtheria or infections of the eyes and ears may follow."

Where there is suspicion of the disease, the family physician should be consulted, the doctor said, since his services may mean much in modification of the disease, prevention of complications and temporary protection of young children contacts."

Livestock Industry Increases In State

The average Virginia farmer had $1,848 worth of livestock on his farm on January 1, the best part of it in cattle, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

The Division of Statistics annual inventory of all livestock, showed 2,576,000 head on farms on January 1, 3% above a year ago. They were valued at $278,934,000.

About half were cattle, 1,269,000 head, but they accounted for almost 80% of the value, $220,806,000.

On the basis of the number of farms reporting each category of livestock, the average farmer had more assets on hand in cattle, sheep, hogs and turkeys, and about the same in chickens.

The average farmer reporting cattle had not quite 11 head, up to 6% from a year ago, and worth a total of $1,904.

Among farmers with milk cows, the average had 4 1/2 head valued at $946, down 2%. The same sort of averages were a little less than hogs valued at $188, down 1%; 36 sheep worth $839, up 8%; 72 chickens worth $101, up 2%, and 68 turkeys, worth $435, up 28%.

The poultry figures do not include commercial broiler chickens and turkeys.

Part of Rt. 622 Will Close For Work on Bridge

The resident engineer's office of the Virginia Department of Highways has announced that a bridge will be constructed at Naway's Creek on Route 622, Princess Anne County, and that the road will be closed to traffic from April 1 thru April 5.

The engineer's office explained that it has become necessary to construct a bridge at the point in question due to drainage conditions. The work should be completed within one week, but should the time be extended the public will be notified, the announcement indicated.

Plans Being Made For State Open Golf Meet

TO BE PLAYED ON LOCAL COURSE MAY 16 TO 18

Plans for the Virginia State Open Golf Tournament to be played over the Cavalier Country Club course May 16-18, are now underway, according to Les Larson, professional in charge of the Virginia Beach layout.

John O'Donnell, of the Commissioned Officers' Club, Norfolk, is the defending champion, and will be out to retain the crown he captured over the Cascades course at Hot Springs last year.

The event will be over the 72-hole route with 18 holes scheduled for both Friday and Saturday and the final 36 holes on Sunday. The field her back.

Clarence (Chief) Hoback turned in a 41-42-83 last Sunday while playing with Gene Baker. No report on who won, but we have an idea Gene came out on the short end.

Jack Jackson is hard to live with these days. For the second consecutive week he clipped in on Number 17 from 150 yards out for a birdie. It was the blow that stopped George (Speed) Garvin.

Commander and Mrs. Lonnie Mesum and Mr. and Mrs. Webb Brown recently returned from a five-day trip to Pinhurst and Southern Pines. While there Webb and Lonnie played 99 holes of golf.

Harry Speight from the Woodmount Country Club in Washington got in a round this week with Leonard Fisher.

Those getting in rounds this week included Gene Wilson and William Hudgins, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walte, and Mrs. H. V. Hasset.

will be reduced for the 36-hole grind on the final day.

Larson reported that several expected entrants have tested the sporty Cavalier course during the past week, and early entries include Jack Isaacs, Langley Field, a two-time winner of the state title; Hal Outman, of the Naval Base; Dan Herring, Petersburg Country Club; Chris Sheffield, Chesterfield Country Club; Sam Bates, Elizabeth Manor, Portsmouth; Bobby Dunn, Ocean View; Bob Davis, Cavalier; and C. E. Godfrey, Langley Field. The latter two are amateurs.

Observers feel that O'Donnell and Isaacs will battle it out for top honors, as they have done in the past, but there are many who like Outman's chances and Sam Bates is favored by many since he is at the top of his game and is completely familiar with the Cavalier course, being a pro there for several years.

One of the strongest fields in the history of the meet is expected this year, which indicates that there may be some dark horses overlooked by pre-tourney prognosticators.

Raymond Mills, greenskeeper, reports that the course will be in excellent condition for the tournament. Mills and his crew are beginning work this week to have the course in tip-top shape when the golfers arrive.

Larson has requested that entries be mailed or brought to him at the Cavalier Country Club. Entry fee for the event is $10.

A pro-amateur affair is planned for the day prior to the opening of the 72-hole medal play.

Half Million Dollar Housing Project Gets Underway in Lynnhaven Area

Rodney Malbon New Owner Of Historic Lands

Rodney Malbon, a descendant of one of the original settlers of Princess Anne County, is acquiring historic Upper Wolf Snare and the 18th century plantation home located on the property, it was revealed recently by Frank Atkinson, local real estate man.

Mr. Malbon expressed his intention of farming the 80-acre tract, located south of the Virginia Beach Boulevard, at London Bridge. His former farm holdings were sold to the government for its expansion of the auxiliary air field at Oceano. It is understood that the tract brought approximately $50,000.

The brick home on the site was built in 1759 by Major Thomas Walke, according to Mrs. James S. Barron, widow of State Senator Barron, who owned the property in 1939, and was of the Georgian style of architecture. The property has changed hands several times since the home was built, at one time being owned by the late Col. Lucian Starke, and by Franklin Worrell, prior to being purchased by the Barrons.

Mrs. Barron, who operated the farm between the time of her husband's death in 1941 and the present, said that during the Civil War the premises were occupied by Federal troops. The old bricks in the home were of Virginia manufacture, although most other brick structures built in the same period were erected with brick imported from England.

The structure still has its original hand-hewn hard pine floors. There are eight rooms and two wide halls, the halls being a prominent feature of homes built in these days. Few alterations have been made in the 197-year-old home, and these of a minor nature. There are seven fireplaces in the structure.

Mrs. Barron has moved to the new

Ther newest building development in this area—the construction of a $500,000 housing project between the Virginia Beach Boulevard and the Norfolk-Southern Railroad at Lynnhaven, has begun, according to W. E. Tolson, of the firm of Tolson, Stant, Tucker, Inc., sales agency for the development.

The project, when completed, will contain 50 three-bedroom homes. The Danco Corporation, a local firm, is erecting the project and Conrad Broder is the contractor.

Plans for the project call for homes of varying designs, and developers feel that the houses will sell in the neighborhood of $10,000 with FHA loans available. Each house will contain 1,088 square feet of floor space and will be situated on a lot with 75-foot frontage.

All houses will have central heating and the development site will have hard-surfaced streets and city water. Plans call for the houses to be completed in groups of eight.

Mayflower Apartments at Virginia Beach. Mr. Malbon will occupy the home at the conclusion of renovations now underway. His son, Roger Malbon, Jr., will occupy the guest house on the tract.

The name Upper Wolf Snare was a designation due to the fact that the farm is located on the northern branch of Wolf Snare Creek, which in olden days was navigable and was used to transport farm products to market.

Harriet Whiting Burden Weds Robert Fowler Mathews Here

The Galilee Episcopal Church at Virginia Beach was the setting last Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock for the wedding of Miss Harriet Whiting Burden, daughter of Mrs. Edith Wilkins Burden, of Virginia Beach, to Robert Fowler Mathews, of New York, son of Capt. Bob Orr Mathews, USN, and Mrs. Mathews, of the Naval Base.

Against a background of white gladioli, white stock, white tulips and lighted candles, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edmund Berkeley, rector of the church. Wedding music was played by Mrs. George L. Aldridge, church organist.

Miss Burden entered on the arm of her father, Edgar George Burden, of Richmond, who gave her in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of white satin, fashioned with an illusion neckline and trimmed with an off-the-shoulder bertha of Chantilly lace. She wore a snug-fitting bodice with long sleeves edged with lace at the wrists, and a full skirt which formed a circular train. Her finger tip veil was of imported illusion and was arranged from a cap of Chantilly lace edged with lilac. She carried a white prayerbook topped with a white orchid and showered with Stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Chapman, of Monmouth, N. J., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Edith Lee White, of Norfolk, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Ann Layton and Miss Jean Komm, of Norfolk.

Best man was George Larie, of Manhasset, Long Island, and the

Princess Anne Chapter DAR Hears Talk On 'Old Homes'

Mrs. W. Emmett Kyle, of Albion, Princess Anne County, was the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Princess Anne County Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held last Saturday.

March 22, at the home of Mrs. Virginia Hoffman and Mrs. Frank Stewart, Bay Colony.

Mrs. Kyle, in her introduction to her subject, "Old Homes of Princess Anne County," paid tribute to the county by stating that she felt that Princess Anne County is an area free from communism as any county in the nation and stressed that DAR members must help in the fight to keep it so. She impressed upon her listeners the importance of "living up to our country and not on an ancestry" in building our generation.

Mrs. Kyle talked mostly of the homes around Great Neck, as it is that location are situated the four types of architecture typical of the homes built during the early settlement of Princess Anne County. The types described by Mrs. Kyle were the Adam Thoroughgood type, the gambrel roof type, the Georgian type and the three-story, double chimney type.

Mrs. Earl Van Buskirk delightfully entertained the members with two vocal selections, "Estrelita" and "One Kiss from the New Moon."

During the business session, Mrs. August H. Baman, vice-regent, presided. Plans for a card party and fashion show to be held in May were discussed. Mrs. R. C. Herbert, chapter regent and delegate to the state convention in Alexandria on March 17 and 18, gave a report of the convention. Reports of this convention were also heard from Mrs. Baman, alternate delegate, and Mrs. E. Guy Robertson and Mrs. Francis Winfield, visitors from the chapter to the convention.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

SCOTCH BROOM

Hats off to Scotch Broom, botanically known as Sylvestris Scoparius, and truly well named, for its scope is wide and varied. One of the hardiest flowering shrubs in the garden, it is resistant to heat, cold and disease; is not bothered by wind or weather; needs neither feeding, watering nor spraying; will grow in fertile or poor soil, on a bank or on a level; will re-seed itself prolifically if allowed to do so; blooms lavishly from early spring well into mid-summer. What more could a gardener ask?

In the house its long, slender, flower-studded branches lend themselves to graceful, airy-looking bouquets; placed in a black pottery bowl, high on a mantle or tall chest, it is our favorite method of using it, but it is equally attractive in a green prune juice bottle with the stems showing through the glass.

The hardiness of this shrub probably accounts for the dearth of facts concerning it, for you seldom see any reference as to its care. This is surely not for the reason that it is not a desirable adjunct to any garden. Its plentiful seedlings and rapid growth make it especially adaptable to group planting. If you have one flowering bush this spring, and allow the seed to fall, you will find hundreds of small plants pushing up the next year, which will be of blooming age by the following spring. This is fortunate, for the shrub is short-lived and after three or four years full-flowering, you will find that it has unobtrusively died and, with its typical characteristic of causing no trouble, one slight tug will bring the parent bush out of the soil, leaving the field to the "youngsters" well on their way to take over. The young bushes do not transplant very well except when quite young, and it is always best to scatter seed in the spot where you want plants to grow. Scotch Broom is especially good for the planting of steep
